

Appleton Youth Is Killed When Car Hits Ditch

Russell Burmeister, 19,
Dead After Accident;
Two Others are Hurt

Russell R. Burmeister, 19, died on the way to St. Elizabeth hospital of internal injuries suffered when his car crashed into a water-filled ditch and went over a fence into a field at the dead end of the town road intersecting County Trunk E, a half mile north of Appleton about 9:30 last night.

Burmeister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burmeister, Appleton, was driving the car and failed to make the turn onto County Trunk E, according to Ronald Decker, county motorcycle officer, who investigated.

Raymond P. Dohr, district attorney, said this morning that no inquest will be held.

Riding with Burmeister were Darrel Holcomb, 19, 929 W. Spring street, and James Drexler, 20, 1317 W. Washington street. Both were treated for cuts and bruises.

Burmeister was born in Appleton Jan. 21, 1921. He was employed at the Zylstra Furnace company.

Survivors are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burmeister, one brother, Philip, four sisters, Theresa, Delores, Shirley, and Phyllis; the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burmeister, all of Appleton.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 Saturday afternoon at the Wichmann Funeral home with the Rev. E. C. Kollath of Neenah in charge. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery. The body may be viewed at the funeral home after Friday noon.

Fined After Crash
Herman Moss, 224 High street, Neenah, pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs for failing to stop at an arterial by Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court this morning.

Moss passed the arterial on a Grand Chute town road at Highway 47 about two miles north of Appleton, plunged across the highway and crashed into the ditch on the opposite side of the road, county police said.

R. M. Hettiger, Neenah, his companion, suffered several broken ribs.

A galloping horse crashed into a stopped automobile, driven by Thomas Morris, Shiocton, about 11 o'clock Tuesday evening on Highway 47.

Wallace Won't Limit Talks to Agriculture

Des Moines, Iowa —(P)— Henry A. Wallace indicated today that he would not confine himself to farm problem speeches in a forthcoming midwestern campaign tour.

"I am running for vice president, not secretary of agriculture," he commented at a press conference here when asked whether the talks would be limited to agricultural issues or whether he might not also touch on the national and international situation.

Wallace tonight will formally accept the Democratic vice presidential nomination here. Representative Marvin Jones (D-Texas), chairman of the house agricultural committee, will officially notify him of his selection as President Roosevelt's running mate.

The nominee said he would "swing into politics" Tuesday night, Sept. 3, with a speech at DeKalb, Ill. He said he expects Claude Wickard to qualify as his successor as secretary of agriculture.

Expect 10,000
Reminded by reporters that Wendell Willkie had praised him in a speech here, Wallace observed: "I haven't appeared in Mr. Willkie's hometown yet."

Democratic party officials said they were preparing for a crowd of 10,000 for the notification ceremonies. The 30 minute acceptance address was scheduled to begin at 8:30 p. m.

The vice presidential nominee returned to his home city of Des Moines by train last night.

In the Wallace party were representative Jones and Edward J. Flynn of New York, Democratic national chairman.

The Iowa Committee for Agriculture, described as a nonpartisan organization supporting the Roosevelt-Wallace ticket, said delegations from Missouri, Nebraska, Illinois, Minnesota, South Dakota and Iowa would be here for the acceptance speech.

Company officials worked on a theory that a blow torch being used in repairing a leak touched off the blast.

Draft Fight in House; Senate Approves Bill

Bombs Rained on Britain as English Planes Raid Berlin

London Area Hit Heavily in Seven-Hour Night Assault

London —(P)— Nearly 200 German planes came over the southeast coast in waves at a great height late today. Some of them penetrated inland but fled when engaged by fighters, without dropping any bombs.

London —(P)— German air raiders following up their greatest night attack of the war, in which thousands of incendiary and high explosive bombs were rained on all parts of England and Wales, returned to the assault this afternoon with a thrust into southeastern England.

Civilians were killed in 20 odd areas which were hardest hit. Reports spoke of 'hundreds of bombs' being dropped, of 'twenty bombs' dropped in quick succession and of 'fifty bombs' dropped quickly.

The Nazi bombers staged the longest sustained attack of the war on London itself, blasting their high explosive bombs in many sections of the capital's ring of outskirts in a seven hour attack which lasted practically from darkness to dawn.

Fires Started
In the London area, where the raiders seemed to mean business—this was no mere 'nuisance raid'—bombs were dropped both by single planes and by small waves of planes.

Fires were started in several London suburbs as well as in the midlands and Wales. All were reported controlled before large damage resulted.

The London and Northeastern railway suspended train service from London on one line and carried passengers by buses.

Some bombs dropped in the London area were of the delayed action type.

The government accused the raiders of dropping bombs "at random" in the attack on London, while the wide use of incendiaries on London.

Sees Move for Appeasement

Patman Thinks Some Business Groups are Favorable to Hitler

Washington —(P)— Representative Patman (D-Texas) told the Dies committee today he believed there was "a deliberate attempt" on the part of certain business groups to force adoption of an appeasement program toward Hitler.

The Texan, urging the committee to investigate what he said was "an unholy alliance" between certain parts of "big business" and the distribution of Nazi propaganda in this country was told by Chairman Dies (D-Texas) that committee agents already were doing so but had "found nothing so far."

Patman testified at a hearing accorded him to enable him to submit evidence which he said would substantiate his allegations that Carl Byoir, New York publicity man and army reserve officer, had been employed as a Nazi propagandist.

Byoir denied the charges and a subcommittee of the Dies committee headed by Representative Dempsey (D-N. M.) recently exonerated Byoir. The justice department also exonerated Byoir after an FBI investigation.

Two Parades Staged at Green Bay Convention

Green Bay —(P)— Two parades that wound through the city for more than two hours highlighted activities last night for delegates attending the national Disabled American Veterans convention.

The main parade, which included 16 marching units and bands, was followed by a parade of the Trench Rats, D.A.V. fun-making organization.

The Trench Rats elected Earl Quant, Chicago, as their president yesterday, and named Jack Savin, of Detroit, and Boyd Kocklin, Harrisburg, Pa. as vice presidents.

The D.A.V. will elect officers and choose its 1941 convention city tomorrow.

Nazis Sentence Three
Norwegians to Death

Oslo, Norway, (via Berlin) —(P)— Three Norwegians were sentenced to death by a German military court today on charges of espionage.

A fourth defendant was sentenced to five years of penal servitude and two others were acquitted.

Germany Apologizes
For Attack on Ship

Dublin, Ireland —(P)— Germany has expressed "sincere regret" to Ireland over the Aug. 1 bombing of the 825 ton Irish-registered steamer Kerry Head, it was announced today.

Ireland had asked compensation for damage to the vessel. No one was injured in the attack.

Washington —(P)— The agriculture department said today that present conditions indicated a 1940-41 loan rate on corn of about 61 cents a bushel, or 4 cents higher than the 1939-40 rate.

This would be the highest permissible under the agricultural adjustment act.

Officials in the bureau of agricultural economics explained the law provided that when indicated corn production is below the level of normal consumption and export, but the price is 75 per cent below parity a loan rate of 75 per cent of parity is mandatory.

The present indicated production of 2,248,000,000 bushels is considerably below the normal consumption plus export figure of 2,575,000,000 bushels for 1939-40.

Lavagetto Is Lost
To Brooklyn Dodgers

Cincinnati —(P)— Surgeons removed a gangrenous appendix from Harry A. (Cookie) Lavagetto today and the Brooklyn Dodgers' crack third baseman will be lost to the team for the remainder of the season.

Vienna —(P)— Hungarian and Rumanian delegations, brought to this capital of old Austria by axis "peace-makers," communicated the suggestions of Rome and Berlin for a Transylvanian settlement to their governments today after separate two-hour talks with German and Italian foreign ministers.

German spokesmen said "from various signs it can be presumed that, perhaps tomorrow, concluding results will be reached."

The Hungarians Premier Count Pal Teleky and Foreign Minister Count Istvan Csaky, and the Rumanians, Foreign Minister Mihail Manoilescu and his aids, had not yet come together in a four power roundtable to discuss any proposed new frontier. They held separate talks with Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano, the German and Italian foreign ministers.

The preliminary discussions were held at the Imperial hotel, headquarters of Ribbentrop and Ciano.

Long talks with each delegation separately indicated that the axis powers were going thoroughly into Hungarian-Rumanian problems before bringing the representatives together.

The conference was reminiscent of the axis-arbitrated settlement between Hungary and Czechoslovakia in November, 1938, at Vienna whereby the since dissolved Czechoslovak Republic yielded Carpatho-Ukraine (Ruthenia) to Hungary.

Ciano and Von Ribbentrop were the axis representatives on that occasion, too.

A German spokesman said the talks would be conducted "in a spirit of comradely cooperation."

"No hard and fast program has been laid down," said the spokesman.

Washington —(P)— The house military committee approved today a Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill calling for drafting of men from 21 to 44 years of age, inclusive—a much wider age range than that provided in the bill which the senate passed last night.

The house committee acted quickly after senate passage on a 58 to 31 vote so that its version of the legislation might be brought to the floor Tuesday for possible final house passage late next week.

Chairman May (D-Ky.) declined to disclose either the names of four who voted "no" or of the absentees.

Another point of difference in the two bills is that while the senate provided a limit of 900,000 on the number of conscripts who might be serving at any one time, the house committee wrote in a 1,000,000 limit. Members said that figure was necessary to provide also for conscripts for the navy.

The committee authorized may, he said, request two days of general debate by the house plus unlimited consideration of amendments.

House leaders previously had decided on Tuesday as the date for starting consideration.

May also reported that the committee deferred until Tuesday action on a proposal that a senate-approved amendment authorizing the president to take over private defense plants be recommended to the house also.

Senate Passes Bill
After three weeks of stormy and often acrimonious debate, the senate gave its approval to conscription last night at the close of a tense, 9-hour session.

The bill, as passed, was substantially unchanged in its essentials from the version originally recommended by the senate military committee. One major addition would give the government the power to "conscrip" industry for defense, if necessary.

The bill, as passed by the senate, contained the following major provisions:

1. All male citizens or prospective citizens from 21 through 30 would be required to register, with few exceptions.

2. Registered men would be subject to call for a year's compulsory military service.

3. The men called for service would be selected in an "impartial manner," and in such numbers as the president specifies. The maximum number of trainees at any one time is limited to 900,000.

The bill also provided for an increase in the basic army pay, which conscripts would receive, from $21 to $30 a month.

Exemption from service would be granted registrants who are physically or mentally unfit, who have dependents, or who are employed in necessary agricultural or industrial jobs.

Army Proposals
If the measure would be approved in substantially the same form by the house, a registration day probably would be set by the president about 15 days after the legislation becomes law. Then, by Oct. 15, the army would expect to induct its first quota of conscripts, approximately 75,000 young men. If army plans materialized, 400,000 would be in training by Jan. 1 and 400,000 more by April 1.

In its present state, however, the version of the Burke-Wadsworth bill now in the house committee, differs on one big point from the senate-approved measure. It would make all men between 21 and 45 subject to registration and possible service.

Some rumblings of house opposition were heard against a few of

Suspect in Rothstein
Case Dies in New York

New York —(P)— George McManus, big time Broadway gambler who once was accused of the murder of Arnold Rothstein, died of heart disease last night at his summer home in Sea Girt, N. J.

After a long and sensational trial McManus was acquitted by the general sessions jury which heard the case—but the slaying of Rothstein in 1928 still remains a mystery. The notorious gambler had stumbled out of a theatrical district hotel mortally wounded, never to disclose his assailant.

McManus, who had avoided publicity with great care since the trial, had been ill about six months.

Washington —(P)— The German high command reported receiving as well as giving blows in the aerial war with Britain today.

Berlin residents swept up glass and debris from scores of British bombs which killed 10 persons, injured 30, set a string of fires and dug craters in parts of the capital in a three-hour attack last night.

It was Berlin's worst air raid. British planes dropped thundering charges but two miles from Adolf Hitler's chancellery.

But German reporter-fighters returning from early morning attacks on Britain used such phrases as "a sea of flames" to describe the effect of a surprise dive bomber onslaught on Britain's great Portsmouth naval base.

Great clouds of smoke were described as floating over Liverpool harbor, Chatham, an important Thames side naval center, and other harbor objectives attacked last night.

The high command, admitting for the first time a British attack on the important synthetic gasoline producing plant at Leuna, near Leipzig, said "slight damage" was caused.

British planes "intentionally attacked residential sections of the reich's capital," the daily communique said and incendiary and explosive bombs "killed or injured numerous civilians and caused damage to several apartment houses with attic fires."

One British plane was brought down in the attack, the high command said, bringing to 44 its reports of Britain's total losses yesterday.

Suez Canal Is
Italian Target

Rome —(P)— Italian planes bombed the Suez canal for the first time yesterday, the fascist high command announced today.

Bombs were dropped on the northernmost part of the canal, between Port Said and Ismailia, the high command said, as well as on the Alcantara ferry, where the railroad line passes between Egypt and Palestine.

The daily Italian communique also reported another raid on Alexandria, Egyptian port where the British maintain an important naval base.

(A British communique yesterday said Port Said was bombed for more than an hour, but that there were no casualties and no damage.)

British attempts to invade Eritrea, in Italian East Africa, from the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan were beaten off, the high command reported.

Probe of Conservation Department Is Shelved

Probe Off at Least Until After Election;
Relations Between Heil, Frey are Strained

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The research bureau's investigation of the state conservation department, which has already produced charges of irregularities in the disposition of state-owned timber lands, has definitely been shelved, it was learned from highest administration sources today.

Coincident with reports of progress in the effort to organize a new state-wide group of conservation interests to combat political interference with the affairs of the conservation department came the word that for a combination of reasons Governor Heil has decided to halt the Frey investigation of the department, probably permanently, but certainly until after the November election.

Reasons were ascribed as an unwillingness to stir up an exceptionally controversial issue during the political campaign period, advice from party sources that the manner and results of the investigation were imperiling the support of large numbers of conservation department supporters, and the unwillingness to furnish a campaign issue for the Progressive opposition.

At the same time, however, it was clear that the governor's hesitancy to continue the conservation department investigation has strained relations between the executive and one of the chief figures in the Republican administration, August Frey, director of the research division which started the inquiry several months ago.

On at least three important occasions Heil has ignored Frey's recommendations. So direct was the governor's action this week in setting aside Frey's demand for the dismissal of John W. Roach, beverage tax division head, that it amounted to a repudiation.

Earlier, when Frey after extensive research and many public hearings, preferred charges against the state highway commission for alleged irregularities in purchase of road materials and the letting of construction contracts, Heil pointedly over-ruled recommendations for a reorganization of the commission and never publicly mentioned the contents of Frey's report.

It is known today that Heil has had on his desk for several weeks Frey's recommendations growing out of the research bureau's scrutiny of the conservation department's land policies. Extended public hearings, with a voluminous record, numerous trips to northern Wisconsin locations by division investigators, witness costs, and the salaries of lawyers, accountants and others in the division, have accumulated a heavy cost for the conservation department investigation thus far, it was pointed out today. But there is no indication that the governor will act, and in a press interview this week he intimated broadly that he would be content to drop the whole matter.

Meanwhile leaders of the Wisconsin Conservation League reported satisfactory and substantial progress in the welding of more than 400 separate conservation clubs into the new state federation.

Leaders in the league are leading members of the Wisconsin conservation congress, quasi-official advisory group connected with the state conservation commission. They include Louis Badke, Horicon, Dr. J. A. Regel, St. Croix Falls, Dr. H. O. Schneiders, Wausau, and Howard Leppa, Brillion, all of whom have attacked the Frey investigation of the department and used it to cite the necessity for a state conservation organization to prevent political inquisitions which "hamper constructive conservation efforts."

One of the first projects of the league will be the issuance and sale of a brand new series of wild life stamps, receipts from which will go toward the maintenance of a permanent organization with a paid secretary, according to plans. The stamps have already been ordered and paid for, according to league officers, and will portray native Wisconsin wild life, including deer, grouse, ducks, etc., besides flowers and plants.

Axis Powers are Worried Over Smoldering Balkans

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

Bombs raining on England and Germany almost drown out other operations but there are two matters of great importance to the battle of Britain which at the moment fall within the field of words rather than bullets—(1) The anxious efforts of the Hitler-Mussolini brotherhood to prevent a Balkan war, and (2) the growing Franco-British animosity.

The German and Italian foreign ministers, Von Ribbentrop and Count Ciano, met in Vienna today with representatives of Rumania and Hungary to try to compose the volcanic quarrel resulting from the Hungarian claim to Rumanian Transylvania. A Balkan war might easily grow out of this fight, and that might represent a catastrophe for the Axis powers.

There are two vital reasons why Hitler and Mussolini must maintain peace on the peninsula. One is that they must have the vast supplies of war materials and foodstuffs which they get from the Balkans. The other is even more important—that of keeping Russia in hand.

The ways of the sphinx of Moscow, Josef Stalin, are all but inscrutable—but not quite. The axis partners have given indications that they suspect him of intending to increase his influence through the Balkan situation.

The tenseness of the situation in the Balkans, and the great potentialities of damage to the axis cause, undoubtedly have had considerable to do with Hitler's delay in his major attack on England.

French Hostility While Hitler and Mussolini are finding a threat in the Balkans, the increasing hostility of the French government to Britain shows signs of being a possible breeder of difficulties for England.

The charge by the Petain government that Britain is inspiring rebellion in the former's African empire is the latest development in a feud which has swelled in bitterness ever since the allied collapse in the battle of Flanders. The accusation is based on the decision of the French colony of Chad in central Africa to side with England rather than with Petain.

The quarrel really goes back to the early days of the German drive against the allies, when he heard that the other fellow wasn't pulling his weight in the fighting.

The fight broke wide open when the British attacked units of the French fleet which insisted on following the Petain government in surrender. Since then barbs have been flying in both directions.

Only last week French Foreign Minister Baudouin characterized Britain's blockade of Europe as "an unhuman dictatorship of famine." He said British Premier Churchill had committed "an act of hostility" in his statement that no food would be permitted to pass the blockade to Nazi-occupied countries.

So the matter has gone until one hears many expressions of wonder as how long such a situation can continue without arriving at the point when these former allies will face each other on the battle field.

British Answer 7 Hour Raid on London With 3 Hour Berlin Raid

By the Associated Press

German dive bombing stukas smashed at Britain's great naval base of Portsmouth and reportedly left it "a sea of flames" today after a night of terror for 12,000,000 civilians in the fiercest air raids of the war over London and Berlin.

Untold numbers were killed, and great fires set by incendiary bombs blazed in both capitals.

In a single London district, more than 60 bombs fell as a marathon of Nazi raiders pounded the metropolis for seven hours and 10 minutes—the fifth straight night attack on London and the longest sustained attack of the war.

British bombers struck back with a 3-hour attack on Berlin, raining high explosives and incendiary bombs within two miles of Adolf

Hitler's chancellery and taking a toll of 10 known dead and 30 wounded.

Nazi airmen displayed a new "silence" technique in raids practically spread eagles the British Isles, cutting their motors to avoid attracting searchlight beams and gliding down to the attack.

The semi-official British Press association, taking note of the wholesale use of fire bombs, called the raid "the most venomous attack of the war against Britain."

Censorship kept secret the number of British casualties, and the official statement was only that there were "some deaths."

"The Italian high command, meanwhile, reported that fascist planes bombed the Suez canal—Britain's vital life line—for the first time in the war.

Italian bombs dropped on the far north end of the canal, between Port Said and Ismailia, the high command said.

An aviator-reporter for DNB, official German news agency, said a surprise attack on an airfield near Portsmouth, on the English southwest coast, turned the RAF base into "a desert full of craters."

Other Nazi raiders reported pre-dawn attacks "with notable success" against the big military depot at Chatham, 30 miles southeast of London; Liverpool, Thameshaven and Middlesbrough. Huge fires were reported.

While the belligerent bombers flew on their missions of destruction the axis powers centered their diplomatic prowess in a conference at Vienna, seeking to compose differences between Hungary and Rumania over Transylvania. They were trying to keep the Balkans at peace to insure a supply of food and petroleum for Germany and Italy.

Russia was a factor, though not among those present at the four power conference of foreign ministers. Rumania announced withdrawal of army units, supply depots and state institutions further from the Russian frontier, scene of bloody conflict earlier in the week.

Legion Posts to Install Officers

Joint public installation of new officers of the seven American Legion posts in Outagamie county will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the clubhouse of Oney Johnston post.

Frank L. Greeny, Milwaukee, past state commander, will be the speaker and Dale Andrews, commander of the ninth district, will be the installing officer.

Special guests at the installation will include Senator Mike Mack, Mayor John Goodland, Supervisor Emmett O'Connor, Judge Thomas H. Ryan and members of the executive committee of the county board including Fred Konrad, Lloyd Lang, Curt F. Rogers, Henry J. VanStraten, Raymond P. Dohr, Martin Williams and Frank Schmidt.

Chilsen Opposed to Forced Training

Merrill — Walter B. Chilsen, who is campaigning for the Republican nomination for United States senator, issued a statement today that he is opposed to national conscription chiefly because "no genuine effort has been made to open recruiting office doors to volunteers."

"In many parts of this state many who would offer their services to the defense establishments have been obliged to ask where they could go to enlist," Chilsen said. "If any genuine effort were being made to enlist volunteers, recruiting offices would not be so few and far between."

Chilsen advocated establishment of recruiting offices in every city of 5,000 or over.

Discussing weapons for defense, he said: "The building of warplanes should be continued until they are as thick against the sky as passenger pigeons that blacked out the sun 75 years ago."

WPA Is Credited With Planting 17,000 Acres

Milwaukee — Jay H. Price, regional forester at Milwaukee, today announced that for every four and one-half trees set out in national forests in the north central region last year, one was planted by WPA crews.

The WPA was credited with planting 17,000 acres of the 77,000 acres planted during the last fiscal year. CCC groups did most of the planting.

Willkie Sits on Grass to Visit With the Press

Rushville, Hub for Republican Campaign,
Becomes Boom Town

BY THEODORE F. KOOP

Rushville, Ind. — While townspeople are bustling to entertain an ever-growing stream of visitors, Wendell L. Willkie is greeting political callers on the front porch and lawn of the sprawling red brick home he has rented for his presidential campaign.

The street in front of the 80-year-old residence is blocked off with saw-horses but the sidewalk is filled throughout the day with men and women who cheer each appearance of the Republican nominee.

A banner downtown proclaims "Rush County Presents Wendell L. Willkie." The Hotel Lollis is crowded with newspapermen and members of Willkie's personal staff. Restaurants have hired extra waitresses. Several stores have re-painted their fronts, and the chief of the six-man police force is keeping a personal eye on the traffic situation.

Although Willkie told reporters yesterday "I am taking it as easy as I can," his appointment book generally is full and he is working in spare hours on speeches for his western campaign tour.

Most of his time is spent at his home rather than in the office suite over the corner drug store where his staff is handling a heavy correspondence. He held a press conference yesterday in the shaded back yard of his residence.

Sprawled on the grass while the reporters sat in a semi-circle around him, Willkie suggested a section be written in the inscription bill to give exemption boards in each community power to determine which men should be freed from selective draft.

"Under that system," he said, "the administration of the act would be both local and free of politics."

Telegraphs Johnson Willkie sent a telegram to Senator Hiram Johnson of California, congratulating him on winning the Democratic, Republican and Progressive nominations.

"It is fortunate," the message said, "that the people of California are able to recognize a true progressive even though some others may not."

Asked whether he referred to President Roosevelt's assertion that Johnson no longer was a liberal, Willkie smiled and said, "You fellows can define who the 'some others' are."

Then he added, "The president's attack on him (Johnson) probably helped him."

Commenting that Mr. Roosevelt had said there was no more cause to release a report by the former war resources board than to make public civil war plans, the Republican nominee added:

"Perhaps the president should release it as a historical document. Even if it is history, I would like to have the pleasure of studying it."

Willkie called last week for publication of the report, which was compiled last year by a board headed by Edward R. Stettinius.

Willkie wandered downtown last night and spent an hour chatting with newspapermen in their news room in the Hotel Lollis. He spoke freely on many subjects but nothing was released for publication.

Miss Marion Gerlach, vocalist and music instructor in the Appleton Junior high schools, was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital Wednesday with a throat infection. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gerlach, Weyauwega.

They Didn't Tell Him What Kind of Horses

Boise, Idaho — (AP) — The voice over the telephone said: "Hurry! There's a bunch of horses running around in circles."

Fearing an outbreak of brain fever among the blooded animals at the western Idaho fair, Dr. E. T. Powell, state director of animal industry, dispatched his assistant.

He found a merry-go-round.

Army Prepares To Build Forces

Tentative Plans are Made for Largest Peacetime Power

Washington — (AP) — The army was ready with tentative timetables and plans today to start building the largest peacetime force in the nation's history.

An order from President Roosevelt for the progressive mobilization of the national guard would start the program through its first phases. The chief executive acquired the mobilization authority under legislation he signed Tuesday night.

House passage of the conscription bill, approved last night by the senate, would clear the way for the second part of the program.

The guard mobilization, army officers have told congress, was an essential preliminary to the training of conscript levies.

Assuming a presidential order is forthcoming, tentative plans provide for calling up the first contingent of 55,000 guardsmen for a year's active training on Sept. 15 and 165,000 more by Dec. 1, giving a total of 220,000.

If conscription is enacted, the plan tentatively is to have 400,000 conscripts start their year's service by the end of December, another 400,000 on April 1, 1941 and similar half-yearly increments until Oct. 1, 1944. The date of the first conscription would depend on how soon the bill is approved.

Where summoning of the national guard requires only a military order, the registration and selection of conscripts involves numerous problems. As the conscription bill passed the senate, it left the exact procedure to the president, but Senator Minton (D-Ind.) gave the senate the schedule recommended by a joint army and navy committee.

Eberlein in Favor of Great Lakes Waterway

Richland Center — (AP) — Michael G. Eberlein, candidate for the Republican U. S. senatorial nomination, declared yesterday that he favored "the Great Lakes waterway developed by the federal government as a great benefit to the state of Wisconsin."

Eberlein also stated: "I am 100 per cent opposed to the sending of the sons of our American fathers and mothers to fight European wars on foreign soil, but I favor a sensible preparedness and claim America's destiny must be worked out through hard work, thrift and individual effort right here in America."

Parkers Fined

Three Appleton men were fined $1 each at the Appleton Police station yesterday for violating the city's parking ordinance. They were Harry G. Nelson, 207 E. College avenue; K. J. Pettigrew, 1122 W. Franklin street; and Frank Barta, 523 N. Appleton street.

Lawrence Gives Proof of Piece On WPA Survey

Administration Says Story Is Untrue but Writer Insists It Is

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—When charges were first made of improper use of WPA funds in Kentucky, the WPA management in Washington issued indignant denials, but finally a senate committee established the truth of the charges and this was one of the principal reasons why the Hatch law was subsequently passed by congress.

Lawrence

This correspondent a couple days ago published a letter from a prominent man in Oklahoma stating that the WPA had offered a project involving many thousands of dollars to make a survey of the state's resources for defense and that it was regarded as a political racket because most of the information had already been gathered by other governmental agencies.

Today the WPA has issued a letter declaring the story to contain "ridiculous and completely untrue statements," that the charge was "completely unsubstantiated," and calling either for proof or a public retraction. Today this correspondent gladly furnishes the proof.

This correspondent asked Elmer T. Peterson, associate editor of the Oklahoma Publishing company — publishers of the Daily Oklahoman — to check the statements in my dispatch of two days ago and to interview as many of the principals as he could reach in the last 24 hours. He telegraphs me as follows:

"The record shows that the proposal for war resources survey came from Colonel Westbrook of New Orleans, WPA official. The Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce officials were receptive to the project at first, assuming that it would cost only a small sum. A series of meetings was held and Project Writer Mellor of the Oklahoma state WPA was put on job of drawing up the project. The state WPA administrator, Ron Stephens, said he had turned details over to Mellor."

"The project proposal is set down on regular form 301 on six blue sheets with 16 extra insert sheets and card marked exhibit A. The total amount of the project is $274,236 of which $28,696 was allocated to the sponsor. Doubtless WPA officials can find this in their records."

"The meeting at which Westbrook of the WPA spoke was in the office of the state WPA administrator, Ron Stephens, and was attended by about 25 leading citizens, including representatives of city and state chambers of commerce. One of these men, regarded as exceptionally reliable, says that the project proposal was under the direct supervision of Eula Fullerton, the director of the state WPA and that she told him it would take $800,000. This figure was communicated to city chamber of commerce. Representatives of the state chamber of commerce were notified of this figure and they objected to it as being exorbitant and unnecessary. Prof. Wardell of state university was consulted by WPA project writers."

"When objection to the $800,000 figure was made, state WPA administrator, Ron Stephens said 'we can cut it down, but you know that all we have to do is to ask for more.' This statement was heard and reported by excellent authority."

"I have talked with several unimpeachable sources and their stories all corroborate each other to the effect that $800,000 white collar project for collecting war resources information for Oklahoma was definitely proposed, that it was cut to $274,236 upon protest of Oklahoma business leaders, and finally pigeon-holed altogether because it was considered unnecessary. The fact that the project is 'completely non-existent' is due to local opposition, not to WPA officials."

"That Mr. Stephens was fully aware of project is shown by letter from him to one of the chamber of commerce officials in question dated June 24, 1940: 'Please find enclosed copy of a letter which I have received from Washington which is self-explanatory.'"

"The enclosure was from Harriet Root, chief of United States information service, written to Mr. Stephens under date of June 18 and reads: 'Congressman Jed Johnson has asked us to acknowledge your letter of June 13 requesting a list of materials required by the war department which are available in the United States. We have asked Roy Veatch, secretary interdepartmental committee on strategic materials, department of state, to send you all available information on this subject.'"

"This correspondence relates directly to the project in question." Now, either the WPA in Washington doesn't know what its local offices are doing, or else projects which have the semblance of usefulness are dressed up locally and put through the national office. But had it not been for the alertness of the business men of Oklahoma, the federal government would have wasted at least a quarter of a million dollars in a project utterly useless because it would have duplicated what had already been gathered.

Trades School Defense Class Work Underway

75 Persons Studying Metal Trades in Five Vocational Groups

Kaukauna — The program of vocational education for national defense at the vocational school here is in full operation. William T. Sullivan, vocational school director, announced yesterday.

There are two classes a day in machine shop work and one each in foundry, sheet metal, and welding. About 75 students are taking this metal trades training.

"Every class is filled to capacity and at the completion of the training periods additional students will be enrolled," Sullivan said. "Five teachers now are engaged in the instruction of these classes, and more may be added as the program expands."

The vocational director stressed that the federal government's national defense program would not interfere with the regular operation of the vocational school, which will open with registration next Tuesday and classes on the following day.

The vocational school classes in machine shop, foundry, sheet metal, and welding, will be held at a different time than those in the national defense training program.

Commercial Work
In addition to those classes the vocational school will again offer a full-time commercial course. This course was offered for the first time last year and will be repeated again this year.

Other courses offered will include home-making, and woodshop, besides the metal trades and commercial courses.

Mr. Sullivan requested that prospective students enroll immediately when registrations begin on Tuesday, Sept. 3, so as not to miss any of the work.

The five teachers who have been engaged to teach the metal trades classes are: Frank Mayer, welding; Andrew Maue, formerly of Clintonville, sheet metal work; George Young Madison, foundry work; Gilbert Wahlberg, machine shop; and Dan E. McCarty who is teaching a class in machine shop in his place of business in connection with the program.

The instructors are hired by the vocational school and are paid from funds set up by the federal government.

Composer-Pianist Gives Program at Joint Club Dinner

Kaukauna—Frederick V. Bowers, composer and pianist, entertained 70 members of the Rotary and Lions clubs and their ladies at a dinner at the Hotel Kaukauna last night.

Bowers, who is a member of the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers, told the group of the fight his organization is making to amend the present copyright law.

He also demonstrated the changes made in music in the last 40 years and spoke briefly on his life as a composer and on the vaudeville stage.

He played several of the hits on Broadway in the Gay Nineties, when he was beginning his career as a composer, contrasting several of his songs then with some of his present ones. Together with Clarence Kriesa, high school band director, he led in group singing.

Bowers is the composer of "Al-ways" and "Because I Love You."

Who's Who in County Politics

(Editor's note—The following is one of a series of articles on the men and women who are directing political activity in Outagamie county. Some of them hold no public office, nor do they seek office, while others are office holders and are candidates this year. These articles are confined to the men and women who have been political leaders first, and candidates and office holders secondly. Their personal reasons for being in politics are given in the articles.)

In 1911 Crystal Eastman of New York City came west to study Wisconsin labor laws and visited with relatives in Chicago. She was interested also in woman suffrage and the subject attracted her young cousin, it was the beginning of an active interest in behalf of good government for Mrs. Louis C. Phillips, who came to Appleton in 1924 and who has been active in the Republican party.

Mrs. Phillips

Mrs. Phillips says she is not interested in politics, but rather in good government. She says improvement can be shown by following a program of education to keep people alert to the times.

She is of the opinion that politics in Wisconsin is no better or worse than in other states.

"The majority elects men to public office, but generally they soon become a minority group," she says. "One of the things I am most opposed to in politics is lobbying. If we could eliminate lobbying, the status of politics would be improved immeasurably."

Shortly after she moved to Appleton, Mrs. Phillips assisted in working out the block system of registering voters. In 1928 she headed both the Sixth Ward Civic club and the Sixth Ward Republican club. She has served as a Republican party precinct committee woman. In 1936 and again in 1938

Retail Division Wants Thanksgiving on Third Thursday in November

Retail division of Appleton Chamber of Commerce voted almost unanimously yesterday in favor of the celebration of Nov. 21 as Thanksgiving day, the date which President Roosevelt has announced he will proclaim.

The state chamber of commerce is taking a poll of retail opinion, and Appleton's sentiment will be mailed in. Last year Governor Heil named the fourth Thursday of November as the official day.

"The third Thursday is much better from a retail standpoint," Kenneth Corbett, chamber secretary, said yesterday.

she was elected county Republican vice chairman and by virtue of the office headed the party women in the county.

Interesting Fact About Appleton

The first effort to manufacture gas in Appleton was made in 1877, when a gas plant was erected. Earlier, a group of Appleton citizens had unsuccessfully sunk considerable money in boring for gas.

The first gas mains were laid in the city on Monday, August 13, 1877. The first plant was erected on the present site of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. Four months after ground was broken, the plant was in operation.

In October of that same year, most of the leading business firms in the city were using gas. There was a gaslight "hop" at the old Turner hall October 26, but the lights burned dimly because there was considerable air in the pipes. Subsequent experiments were more successful.

A short time later the Appleton Gas Light company was organized and in 1879 receipts of the company amounted to $12,000.

Instructors Report To Vocational School

Circuit instructors for the fall classes at the Appleton vocational school are reporting to the school to obtain class schedules and plan class programs, according to Carl Bertram, coordinator of trades and industries. The Appleton school jointly employs 16 instructors with other vocational schools of the lake-shore district, and each will teach here one day a week.

3 Appleton Students Named to Committee

Three Appleton students, juniors at Cornell college, Mount Vernon, Ia., have been named members of the school's freshman week committee. They are Ivis Boyer, Mariett Schlagenhauf and James Bailey. They will help with plans for a freshman-faculty dinner, faculty-at-home, freshman picnic and Sunday vespers.

The Billion Campaign Fund

No volcanic blast from the throbbing throat of Harold Ickes nor a tearful speech from Mayor Kelly, the great Chicago humanitarian, can turn aside the convincing Willkie charge that the administration is already pouring out the people's millions padding up the relief rolls for the approaching election.

Here is an instance where the record does the talking. The story from the record is a sorry one. Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, Cleveland or Woodrow Wilson wouldn't believe it. It is just so much money on the barrelhead for so many votes, as raw and putrid as that. Already since the 1st of July to the middle of August a cool 100,000 have been added to WPA enrollments. The story in 1936 and 1938 is practically identical. But there was no such horseshagging during the off-election years of 1937 and 1939.

Mr. Willkie spoke out boldly in the hope of shaming the Tweeds and Crokers. There is no chance. But the heavy work is about to begin. And if the figures during the election of 1934 are repeated about 800,000 will be put on the public payroll which ought to buy, roughly, four million votes.

This bribery is all the more brazen when it is committed in the face of higher employments due to war orders and the rehabilitation and extension of war industries.

It is not merely that this vicious system is openly pursued by men posing as purists and humanitarians nor even that it has become a reproach to and stain upon democracy but the chances are that it has started an insidious and deadly corruption, a rot and decay of our government fabric, that may continue until democracy collapses.

It may be remembered that two years ago Aubrey Williams, a principal officer in the WPA, publicly urged those affected, and the members of their families, "to keep our friends in power." The recipients of this form of bribe money are now sufficiently trained that public statements of this character probably may be shunted aside.

And while congress gives the President a billion as his personal campaign fund it passes a special act to so limit other campaign funds that even were the Republicans so inclined to compete in the matter of this bribery they could not find the funds available for the purpose.

Give Harry a Rest

The threat that the Attorney General's department is now about to oust Harry Bridges from the country can hardly be treated other than a campaign gesture to satisfy many Democrats who have looked with grave misgivings upon the administration's association with Fellow Travelers and their breed.

Professional gamblers are wise guys and when the patrol wagon calls with ringing gong to attract the multitude they recognize it, at least in the big cities, as a political necessity, submit willingly, pay fines uncomplainingly, close shop for a while submissively, and bide their time until the heat is off.

Whether Mr. Bridges can look at the latest movement against him in the manner of a good sport is another question.

Aside from its campaign significance the action of the attorney general's department in again investigating Bridges after the Labor department gave him a clean bill of health following a long trial is hardly complimentary to Madam Perkins. But she could retaliate easily by starting an investigation of the attorney general's department for its pulseless attitude toward the Detroit Reds who were duly indicted by a grand jury for criminally luring American youths into the Spanish Soviet army.

Our sires put a prohibition into the constitution against forcing a man to more than one trial for the same offense, and while that does not apply to proceedings for deportation, the principle underlying it does. Bridges has been put to a great deal of expense and much annoyance. If the Department of Labor could not find out the truth about him perhaps that's what we should report instead of Bridges.

It is time to give Harry a rest.

Bold and Confident

Sir George Paish, for more than 25 years an important personage in British economic circles, is in this country for a certain definite reason. Here is the way Senator Wheeler quoted Sir Paish in the senate on Monday last:

"Sir George Paish said to me that he was responsible for getting the United States into the last war and he was going to get this country into this war."

The immediate statement issued by the British embassy that Sir George is in this country "entirely in a private capacity" might have been saved. It is astonishing how many Britons are over in America today in private capacities. In the House of Commons a question was raised in 1920 about the expenditure of 150 million dollars during World War No. 1 for which no account had been rendered. The government admitted the money was spent for propaganda in America and a member declared in effect that it was the best investment England made.

In the Secretary Knox articles warning us of the Fifth Column it was declared that Hitler was spending 200 million dollars abroad to court and mold public opinion but the share spent in this United States was not estimated.

It is obvious that with both sides trying to buy our friendship and help or, failing that, crippling our productivity, that the nation has quite a problem on its hands. Our determination to protect the Western Hemisphere but not to become enmeshed in Europe, will involve us in a close relationship with England and Canada which will make even more difficult our remaining aloof from their European affairs.

If England is serious in its purpose two years hence to put an army upon the continent against Hitler it must count upon the certainty of American participation in the war else no such army can be made available.

Money is a great factor in fighting wars and in getting nations into them that never should enter. Senator Wheeler's statement shows not only the willingness of England to spend widely and wildly to obtain our participation but her confidence that things are coming her way and that she will shortly have us in.

The Ancient History of America

Those bespectacled gentlemen who wend their way to far and desolate places to dig down and find the relics of past civilizations are going to center their efforts upon North America due to the disturbed conditions elsewhere in the world.

There isn't a spot from Panama to Alaska that doesn't promise something interesting. The National Geographic Society is joining its efforts with the South Dakota State School of Mines with the intention of unearthing the skeletons of great beasts that roamed in what is known as the White River Badlands of South Dakota ten million years ago. It is their ambition to find the Titanotheres, described as "a huge middle-Tertiary mammal allied to the rhinoceroses."

At the same time the American Museum of Natural History will center its investigation in the Big Bend region of Southern Texas. It hopes to find the bones of a water dwelling reptile much larger than the great dinosaur in the American Museum collection and which was tramping around in the state of Cactus Jack about 60 million years ago.

But these will not be the only examiners into the remote affairs of this history packed continent. Enough has been discovered in southern Mexico and Central America concerning human history to indicate that races lived, built and fought here at the same time other races were doing precisely the same thing in Egypt and that part of Asia so often described as "the cradle of man."

And although these expeditions cost considerable money no one seems to take exception to the expenditures even though the discoveries appear of little practical value. The reason for this is that we are all intensely interested in how human beings lived and acted before our time and how life in its many forms developed fitfully but certainly through thousands of centuries.

After all what is there of any interest on the earth if life were not?

Promotions First

While some elements of our population chafe at the bit because congress does not proceed at sufficient speed in relation to our national defense we would like to call their attention to the action taken about three weeks ago when congress passed with blitzkrieg hurry a law "to provide for the rank and title of lieutenant-general of the regular army in the military departments of Panama and Hawaii."

Far be it from us to compare America with Germany, but since the latter country is called military minded we might without injury to ourselves observe the manner in which it directs its army affairs. High promotions in Germany are provided after a battle, not before.

But the army is always willing to take promotions and the rulers know that the higher you run up these promotions the more sugar there is to spread all around.

An administration without sugar would be miserable.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

FOR JUDY

She is more than a baby with eyes of blue,
For she holds the key of new worlds for you.

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington—Roosevelt's concentration on foreign and defense problems was not the only reason he refused to debate with Wendell Willkie. That was what he told newsmen, but there was another reason which he dropped to Representative Adolph Sabath of Illinois, chairman of the house rules committee.

The two were conferring on congressional matters, when Sabath remarked that he heartily approved of the refusal to the GOP standard bearer. "You did right," the white-crested dean of the House said, "but at that I'll bet you would have liked to take him on."

The president laughed and replied by relating this experience: As a young lawyer just getting started in New York, he said he was retained to handle a difficult civil case. The opposing lawyer was a very effective jury pleader and completely outshone his youthful rival in the argument to the jury.

"But he made one fatal mistake," the president continued. "He talked too much." The attorney orated to the jury for several hours, and as he thundered on, Roosevelt noticed that the jury wasn't paying much attention. So, playing a hunch when his turn came, he rose and made this brief statement:

"Gentlemen, you have heard the evidence. You also have listened to my distinguished colleague, a brilliant orator. If you believe him and disbelieve the evidence, you will have to decide in his favor. That's all I have to say."

The jury was out only five minutes and brought in a verdict for Roosevelt's client.

"That was a good lesson, Adolph," the president concluded, "and I think it applies in this case. My distinguished opponent is over-extending himself. He is making statements that he can never back up. It is not necessary for me to answer him. I am leaving my case with the great American jury."

Note—Senator George Norris, father of TVA, who recently blasted Willkie as "a second In-sull," feels that Roosevelt has a hard fight before him and strongly urged him to make a transcontinental campaign tour. The president's reply was that he couldn't go farther than six hours from Washington. Norris now plans to make a series of campaign talks in October.

CANADIAN PILOTS

One matter discussed by the Joint U. S.-Canadian Defense board at its first meeting in Ottawa was the training of Canadian pilots in the United States this winter.

Canada's severe weather makes winter training extremely difficult for aviators. As one Canadian board member expressed it, "Your worst weather conditions are better than our best." Also, Canada is seriously handicapped by lack of training planes and instructors.

The big pilot training program being conducted by the U. S. government has made it hard for Canada to obtain trainer planes and instructors here.

So the dominion is eager to set up a large school somewhere in the U. S. south or southwest where Canadian youths could receive flying instruction this winter. If the necessary facilities can be obtained, Canada is ready to send 5,000 men south for training.

All the costs would be borne by Canada. The only thing desired by Canada is the privilege of establishing the school on U. S. soil.

Note—The U. S. army has trained military flyers from South American countries for several years, though only in very small numbers.

GUNS FOR BRAZIL

The United States has done a lot of talking about Latin American cooperation, and has invited various Pan-American leaders to go on junkets throughout this country. But here is an example of how Good Neighbor cooperation sometimes works out in a concrete case.

Four years ago Brazil tried to buy or lease some of our overage destroyers, but being unable to do so decided to build them herself out of American materials. So she ordered boilers, engines, all sorts of equipment in the U. S. and shipped them to Rio.

However, she was unable to buy any naval guns, so Brazil turned to the United States Navy, which makes its own guns at Washington, D. C. But the U. S. Navy was not allowed to sell. So a law was introduced permitting American countries to buy military and naval equipment from the United States government. But this bill was hung up in congress largely through the vote of one senator, Vandenberg of Michigan.

Therefore, Brazil, having completed her destroyers and needing the guns badly, sent a special mission to the United States to negotiate with the National Forge and Ordnance Company. The deal involved from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000, but National Forge dickered and delayed. Then as the contract was about to be signed, its president died and negotiations had to begin all over again.

Meanwhile congress has passed the bill permitting the purchase of guns from the U. S. Navy, but now the navy needs all the guns for itself.

So with Brazil's destroyers now launched, construction of their guns is not even started. No wonder the Brazilians are listening sympathetically to a German offer to sell them $60,000,000 worth of guns and munitions at one-third what they would cost in the United States.

POLITICAL CHAFF

GOP insiders credit Governor Baldwin of Connecticut with persuading former Under Secretary of Commerce Edward Noble to declare for Wendell Willkie. Noble figured this would help him get the GOP senatorial nomination, but the inside word is that Connecticut party chiefs have other ideas. . . . Federal Security Administrator Paul McNutt was the first choice to manage the Roosevelt-Wallace regional campaign headquarters in Chicago, but he declined. Instead he will make a nationwide speaking tour for the ticket. . . . A Willkie-Davey headquarters has been opened in Toledo under the direction of Dave Krieger, local Republican. Former Governor Martin Davey, Democratic nominee for the office this year, is cold to Roosevelt, once employed Willkie as his lawyer when Willkie lived in Akron. . . . Senator Joe O'Mahoney polled the highest vote ever received by a Democrat in the recent Wyoming primary. With less than half of the normal vote cast in this election, the Democrats figure they have a good chance to carry the state in November.

Now she comes trailing the heavens about her!

Your house has always been spotless and neat. But there will be toys soon beneath your feet. Your shining windows where she will stand. Will bear the print of her baby hand.

You will celebrate birthdays, with children's laughter; You will light blue candles, remembered after.

There will always be party gowns to buy. And a lad will beckon with roguish eye.

She is only a baby a few days old. What a priceless gift for your heart to hold.

For the bright new world she will share with you. Is a beautiful dream of years, come true!

WELCOME FOR GUARDS

Editor Post-Crescent: A few weeks ago it was my pleasure to turn out about 3:30 a. m. and watch our local Co. D, Wisconsin National Guard, embark for Camp McCoy at Sparta. The National Guard of Wisconsin along with several neighbor states, was called out for special training. When I, along with several other people, arrived at the local Chicago and Northwestern railroad station from which our local company was to leave, we were surprised to find very little activity for an occasion of this kind. After waiting several minutes we heard that Co. D, was leaving the Armory. A short time later we could see them coming down Appleton street with the local Artillery band in the lead and Co. D, following in formation. We were surprised at the small turn out of people, at the poor lighting and the utter lack of concern on the part of the Appleton people and the city officials. We noticed no police escort such as is displayed when other civic organizations parade. We did notice that at least one police officer was present at the station and that this officer, Fred Arndt, was off duty. I believe that on an occasion of this kind that the people of the City of Appleton, especially the officials that run our city, should arrange for a rousing send off and welcome when the boys get back. I believe that the council, Mayor and other city officials along with the people should show their respect to this organization by turning out when these boys come back this weekend. Our city officials turn out for almost every other event held in Appleton and should also turn out for this occasion. Other cities turn out to see their boys and there is no reason why a big city like Appleton can't do the same. The boys that are in the National Guard join up of their own free will. They are ready at all times to enforce the law if called out to do so and are willing, if necessary, to give their lives to defend and protect the lives of the people, organizations and businesses that do so little and give so little of their time to make the sendoff and welcome of these boys cheery. It may not mean much to the local people and officials as far as having a large turn out is concerned, but to the boys looking out of the train windows it means a lot. These boys have been at camp now almost three weeks and have worked under the most trying conditions, such as working in the rain, mud, etc. They do these things because each and every one of them love, honor and respect their country and what it stands for and are ready to defend it at any time at any place. They are not like the fellows who are mentioned in the editorial of Aug. 27th in the Post-Crescent. I hope that when the boys come home this weekend that they will find a welcoming committee composed of some of our city officials and a large turn out of local people. Don't be afraid to light up the streets for the boys and provide a police escort back to the Armory for I am sure that the boys will appreciate it very much. Don't you think that the boys deserve it? Show your respect people by being there when the troop train rolls in.

Madison—Because the Progressive Party federation—the political union of Socialists and Progressives until recently called the Farmer-Labor Progressive federation—has been disintegrating rapidly, the action of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor in Janesville last week of removing its guarantee of vote support for federation candidates did not surprise those familiar with state political currents.

The labor convention's action was significant, if only because it marks the practical demise of the Progressive factor of consequences. The Wisconsin State Federation of Labor since the origin of the Socialist-Progressive deal in 1935 was the dominant voice in the left wing alliance. The dominant theme, the primary purpose, of the Socialist-Progressive federation, in turn, was to insure united support for the federation's state of picked, endorsed candidates for state office.

However, it has not been pointed out thus far that the immediate motive for the labor unions' action at the Janesville convention last week was rivalry between two candidates for governor on the Progressive ticket, Orland S. Loomis and Paul Alfonsi.

In fact, something like the Janesville proceeding might have been predicted at Appleton several months ago when the Farmer-Labor federation ignored Alfonsi, who felt he had a claim upon its support and asked leaders to remain neutral in the primary contest, and endorsed Loomis, whose claims to labor support, on the basis of his record in office, are somewhat more remote than those of Alfonsi.

Alfonsi initiated the revolt at Janesville, through the aid of some of his influential friends in the truck drivers' union, which is fast becoming the biggest in the state. That fact, however, does not mean that Alfonsi can expect more labor support than Loomis, or, in fact, more union favor than other candidates on the Progressive ticket. Its most important meaning lies in the fact that Loomis has found that the FLFP endorsement which was handed him at the Appleton convention earlier this summer was largely meaningless, for with the exception of the WFL the makeup of the FLFP is negligible.

It also means that the Socialist-Progressive combination which was devised under the exigency of 1935 political prospects by Tommy Duncan, and which never had the slightest logical basis, has just about been dissipated.

BOOMERANG
The stunt of having an airplane fly over the state fair grounds on a peak day last week with a banner announcing Governor Heil as favoring a repeal of the state oleo tax was frankly devised as a publicity project.

It was somewhat ironical, therefore, that none of the newspaper stories on the day after the event brought out the fact that the airplane was retained and paid for by Harold Stafford, Progressive candidate for governor.

CAMPAIGN CARD
For the next few months the state will be flooded with tens of thousands of campaign posters and cards most of them demanding votes in unimaginative and shop worn phrases.

One of the most unusual thus far circulated is the card authorized by Treasurer John M. Smith, which if nothing else, has the virtue of readability. Calling himself "efficient and unusual," Smith lists among his claims to distinction and reelection by a grateful constituency the fact that he drives a model A Ford which has 130,000 miles on it, and walks 21 miles each morning to reach his office, where he begins work at 5:30.

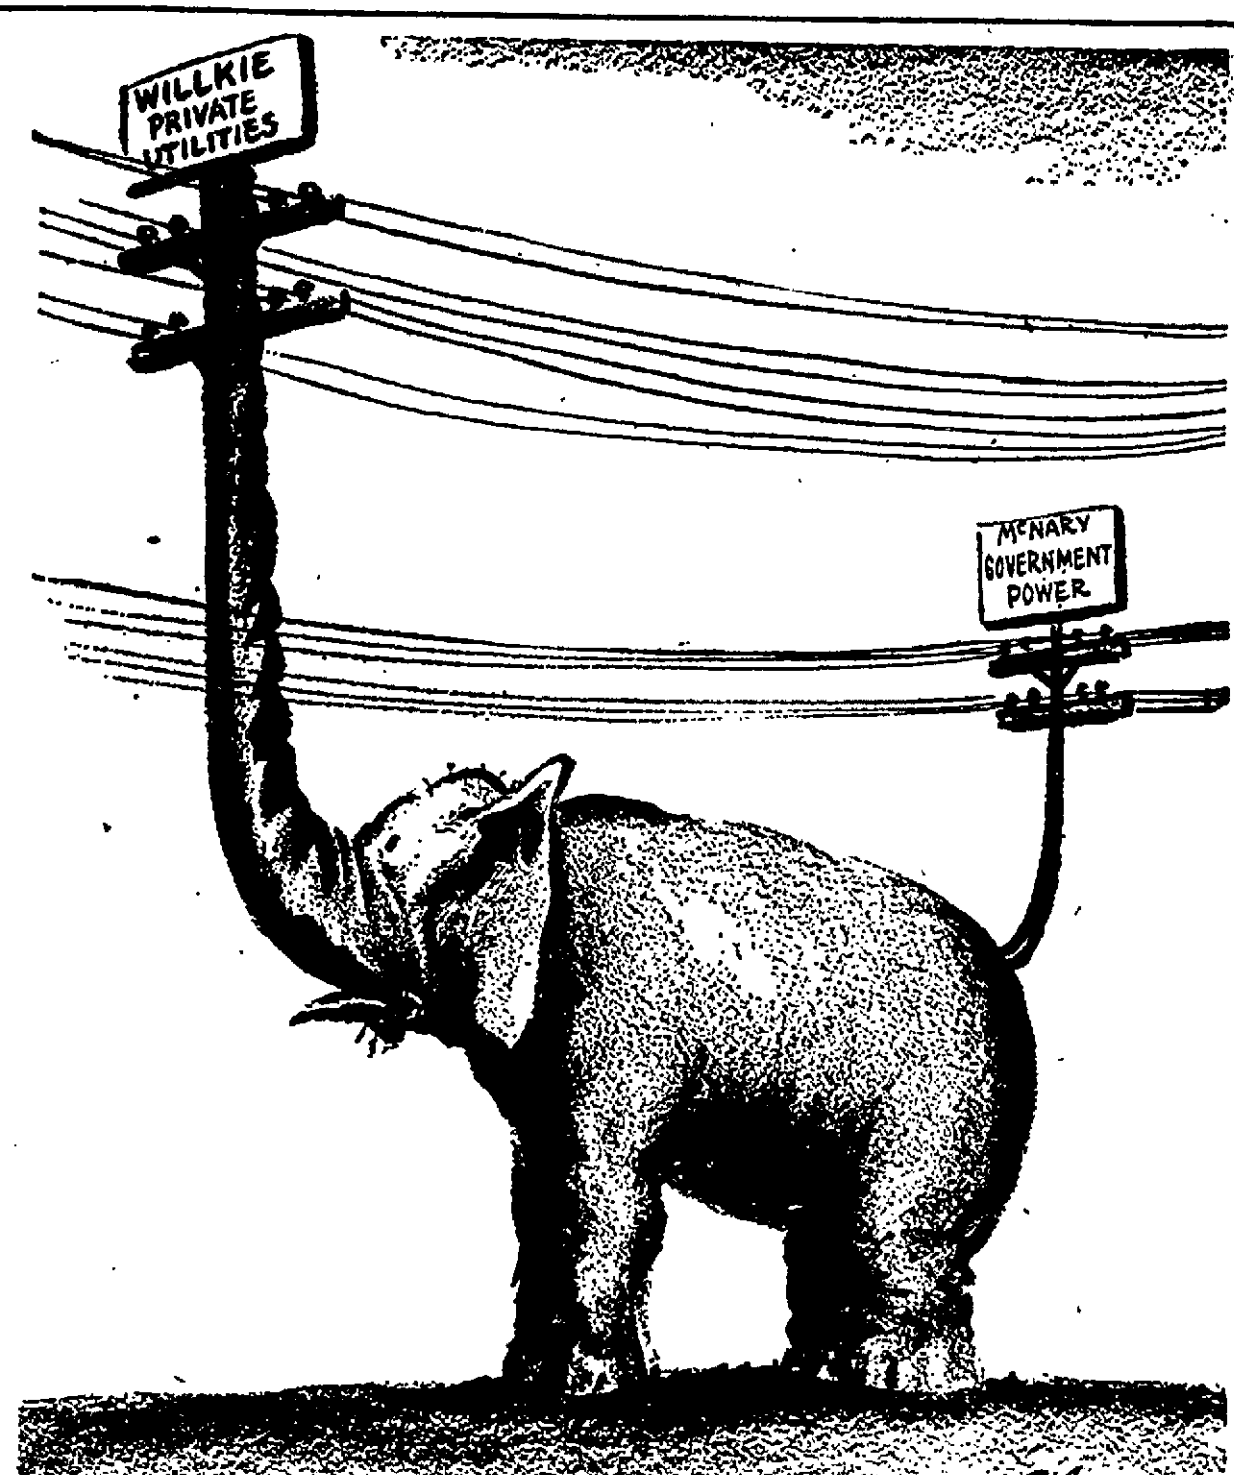

Blue Ridge Berries.

Galax, Va.—(T)—Blackberries by the tank-car again have gone from the Blue Ridge mountains to the nation's canneries.

The berries always have grown in this section, but for years rotted on the bushes.

In 1935, however, Mahlon Collins astounded residents by offering cash for all the berries they could pick.

The business grew steadily. In 1937, Collins shipped 25 carloads of berries in barrels. Last year he began using tank cars and shipped 17 to New York city alone. The pickers received about $20,000 and did about as well this year. Pickers receive about 15 cents a gallon or $40 a ton.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

EARLY UP AFTER OPERATION

What is vital capacity? It is the quantity of air one can breathe out after having taken the deepest possible inspiration. An instrument for measuring the vital capacity is called the spirometer, a kind of gasometer, and such an instrument is commonly used in gymnastics and by physicians making physical examinations of candidates for appointment of police, firemen and the like, as well as in ordinary periodic health tests. Vital capacity is a good index to physical fitness. Average vital capacity of adult male is 3700 cc. and that of adult female 3500 cc. (A pint is approximately 500 cc.)

Ordinarily 500 cc. or about one pint of air flows in and out of the lungs with each quiet breath. This is called tidal air. Then about three pints of air may be breathed in from the deepest possible inspiration over and above tidal air, and this is called complementary air. In addition, about three pints can be breathed out by the most forcible possible expiration in addition to the tidal air of the ordinary quiet expiration. That's all the air there is—available for breathing. Still present in the lungs, bronchial tubes and trachea after the most forcible expiration is 1000 cc. (two pints) of air, called residual air. This residual air together with the supplemental air, constitutes the reserve supply of air in the lungs, approximately five pints.

In 100 patients who had appendicitis operations the Soviet investigator measured vital capacity two days before the operation and daily afterward until it returned to normal. Likewise in 100 patients who had hernia operations, and likewise in 50 patients who had other than abdominal operations. The patients were men and women, from 18 to 50 years old, and all operations were under local anesthesia. All patients were divided into two groups. The first group were kept in bed four to five days after operation. The second group were allowed to get up on the first or second day after operation.

The vital capacity of the first group, remaining in bed several days after operation, was more markedly decreased and slower in recovery than was the vital capacity in the second group, early up after operation.

Now I do not recommend somewhat your way back from the operation room or stepping out with doctor or nurse (take your choice) the night after. But I do believe, and have always believed, it would be better for surgical patients to get up and resume normal activities instead of lying about and playing cripple for weeks, months or years after a trifling laparotomy.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Ringling In Ears

Is it dangerous to take cold tabs if they cause ringing in the ears? I know that is from the quinine, but I wondered if it is harmful. (J. A. F.)

Answer—Hardly enough quinine in such tablets to cause ringing in the ears. More likely that is due to overdose of the acetanilid, antipyrin, phenacetin or acetylsalicylic acid in the tablets. Sodium salicylate is another drug which may produce ringing in the ears. I should not advise monkeying with any drug that produces such effects.

Raw Meat

I know you are not a veterinary, but you know nutrition and I dare ask whether you think it is advisable to feed a cat or dog cooked meat or raw meat? (T. E. M.)

Answer—Raw meat, cats or dogs fed cooked meat only neither thrive nor successfully rear their young. If they get a reasonable amount of raw meat they thrive and have strong healthy litters.

It Happens in Ohio

Son in third grade has his ears pulled and twisted frequently by his teacher because of his writing. We have warned the teacher, because the boy complains of ear-ache a great deal, but she still does it. (Mrs. C. W.)

Answer—The teacher should be arrested and prosecuted for assault on the child's mother should visit the school and twist the teacher's ears by way of emphasizing her objection to the practice.

ble to feed a cat or dog cooked meat or raw meat? (T. E. M.)

Answer—Raw meat, cats or dogs fed cooked meat only neither thrive nor successfully rear their young. If they get a reasonable amount of raw meat they thrive and have strong healthy litters.

Kindly send your list of doctors qualified to give the injection treatment for hernia, varicose veins, hemorrhoids, etc. (R. F.)

Answer—On request, if you enclose stamped envelope bearing your address, I am glad to name a physician qualified to give such treatment, if I know of one in your community. I cannot send out directories or lists of physicians.

Plasterer

Plasterer, and my hands are constantly rough and sore and split from contact with the plaster. I suppose. (T. D.)

Answer—Avoid grit soaps or hand cleaners—use instead a sawdust or vegetable fibre hand cleaner. Before beginning work clean and dry hands well, and rub on some lanolin and castor oil half and half. Wipe off the excess and go to work. After finishing work repeat the application of the lanolin-castor oil mixture, and wipe off only the excess.

80 Women Join In Jamboree at Springvale Club

New London Group to Continue Series of Informal Gatherings

New London—In spite of threatening weather, 80 women, half of them local and out-of-town guests, participated in the women's annual jamboree at Springvale Golf course yesterday afternoon.

The event was to be the last organized activity of the season but the club decided yesterday to continue meeting informally each Wednesday afternoon from week to week until weather prohibits. Named to the hostess committee for next week were Mrs. H. B. Cristy, Mrs. D. N. Vanderveer, Mrs. Rudd Smith, Mrs. G. F. Wernberg and Miss Betty Morse.

An array of prizes, donated by individual members and merchants, were awarded after Wednesday's jaunt around the links was over. Eight foursomes participated. Mrs. Rudd Smith took the honor prize for low score with a 54. Low total putts were realized by Mrs. Carl Sturm of Manawa with 16. A drive of 158 yards by Miss Kathleen Cristy of Waupaca was longest on No. 2 hole and she received a prize for that. Getting nearest the pin with one stroke on No. 3 was Miss Maxine Knapstein. Mrs. G. F. Wernberg had the least number of strokes on No. 5 with a 6. Par is 5.

Blind Bogeys
Three blind bogeys were awarded and the one in the fifties went to Mrs. Henry McDaniel, in the sixties to Mrs. H. A. Gressenz, in the seventies to Miss Margaret Wright. The record for the least number of strokes to get over the hill between holes No. 4 and 5 was tied by Mrs. R. L. Fitzgerald and Mrs. D. N. Vanderveer. The latter won the prize on a drawing.

On the other end of the list, the prize for most strokes on No. 6 went to Mrs. Cynthia Crane of Manawa with 14; on No. 3 to Mrs. K. E. Breitung with 12. Mrs. John Herten of Appleton, a niece of Mrs. Vanderveer and her guest, had the most putts with 41. Miss Ismae Slofer had the most 11's on her score card. Mrs. Edward Benson, guest of Mrs. Wernberg, collected a grand total of 134 for high gross record.

Mrs. Harvey Romberg won a ringer score contest which has been under way all summer and Mrs. Walter Stewart was second. Eight tables of bridge were played and prizes in contract were won by Mrs. George Demming and Mrs. H. H. Helms, in auction by Mrs. R. J. Melverden and Mrs. F. L. Zaag. Mrs. R. D. Wilkinson received the traveling prize and Mrs. Henry Knapstein was awarded a special prize.

Ed Steingraber Buys Apartment Building

New London—Ed Steingraber, 417 E. Beacon avenue, has purchased the former Kimber building at 1214 Division street. The building has been serving as a double apartment and improvement plans of the new owner are indefinite.

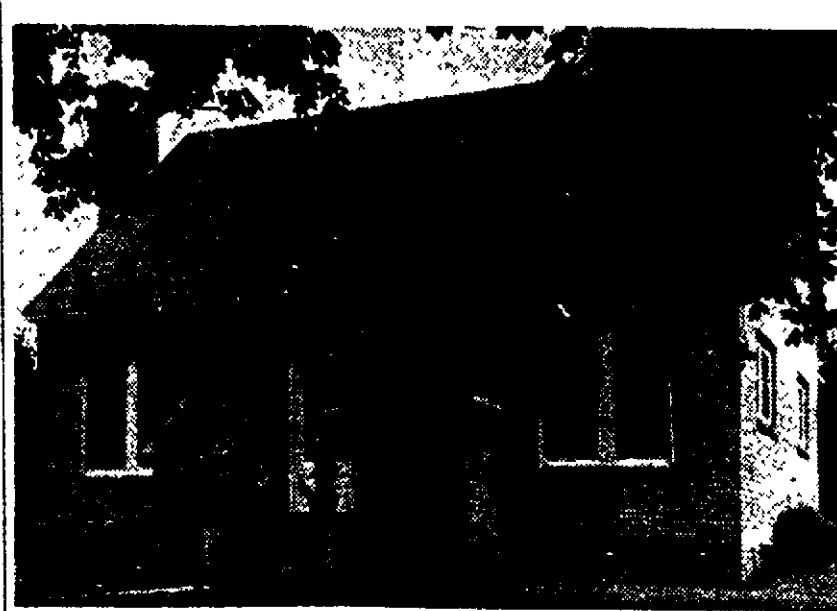

W. Spoehr and family moved from one of the apartments Tuesday into an apartment in the Sofia home at 318 Avon street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Esmond plan to move early next month from the Wilford Cupp home at 508 Wallace street into the Willet home at 1204 Division street. The latter was vacated recently by Mr. and Mrs. Hersel Frank and family who are now residing in the John Dickinson home at 1211 Division street.

Former High School Athlete Joins Navy

New London—Robert Yost, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Yost, 311 E. Pine street, enlisted in the United States navy this week and is at the Great Lakes Naval Training station. A former New London high school athlete, Yost graduated in 1937 and for a year operated the Pure Oil service station at Pine and Mill streets. Because of inclement weather the Golf Dinner club met for dinner and cards at the George Demming home Tuesday evening instead of the Springvale clubhouse. Next week the group will meet at the clubhouse if weather permits or else at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Severance.

Mrs. John Croak entertained her club Tuesday evening and prizes were won by Mrs. William McNichols, Mrs. Winifred Davy and Mrs. John Paul. Mrs. Davy will be hostess to the group in two weeks.

Visitors of Mrs. C. D. Hemmy this week are her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. William McKenna of Duluth.

Harvest of Early Cabbage Launched

New London—Earlier than usual, the first of the early cabbage crop began coming into the Hamilton and Sons Canning company plant here this week. Twenty-five extra persons were added to the regular crew yesterday to handle the influx.

The crop is the best in years and the cabbage is of outstanding quality, according to canning company officials, but there is danger of the standing crop being spoiled if rains continue. The growing weather this year has been of the best. The average price is being paid, from $6 to $7 per ton for contract cabbage and from $4 to $5 per ton on open market.

Classic Pin League To Map Season Plans

New London—Plans for an eight instead of a six team league will be considered by the Waupaca County Classic bowling league at a meeting at Parish alleys, Waupaca, on Tuesday evening, Sept. 3, according to E. F. Buelow, secretary. Iola and Weyauwega are being considered as newcomers. Last year's league had two entries each from Clintonville, Waupaca and New London.

Youth Pays Fine for Assault and Battery

New London—Delbert Otis, 19, New London youth working in Lebanon, pleaded guilty of assault and battery in police court of Justice Fred J. Rogers Wednesday afternoon and paid a fine of $5 and costs. He was arrested in Lebanon Tuesday night by Constable Irving Ziebell on complaint of Steve Otis, 22, a relative, who charged Delbert with striking him over a disagreement in a personal matter.

2, also enlisted in the navy this week and went to the Great Lakes station with Yost.

High Lifes Forfeit Second Half Pennant With 2 Men on Field

New London—The Pure Oil Products softball team won the second half of the City Commercial league on a forfeit from the Miller High Lifes last night. The latter only had two players on the field. The Oils, with only one defeat during the second half, cannot be tied by any other team even if the last two games of the schedule are played. They are tied with the Pure Milks for the first half and a playoff series for the championship will begin as soon as weather permits, possibly Friday night under the lights.

While the scheduled game failed to come off, spectator players formed an All-Star team and beat the Pure Oils 4 to 2 with Charlie Nader pitching for the latter. Art Gottschalk pitched for the assembled stars including Maurice Collar, Harold Poes, Duane Schoening, George Edminister, Will Cornwell, Mike Justinger, George Huntley, Sherwood Walker and Jay Rogers.

Beauty and You

SHE BELIEVES IN SOAP—Petal-like complexion has ANNE SHIRLEY who strongly believes soap to be the best skin cleanser for every type of skin.

Not so long ago, when we were visiting RKO's make-up department we overheard Anne Shirley say to another young screen lovely: "She was worried about her complexion, so she went to a dermatologist and asked his advice. He simply looked at her skin closely and said 'Scrub it night and morning.' And the bill he sent her was scandalous."

Every star in the room giggled because they knew that scrubbing is the primary rule for a good, clear complexion. A woman can curl straight hair, add false eyelashes, dress to hide figure faults, but no make-up in the world can entirely cover a blemished, unlovely skin.

Anne Continues
Those of you who have doubts about the benefit of skin shampoos should have heard Anne's discourse: "Many girls with bad complexions will say that their skin is so delicate they cannot use soap. I always wonder what they use when they bathe! The skin on one's face is the same as body skin—tougher if anything because it is constantly exposed to sun and wind. If your body can take it, your face can."

"I know," hastily said Anne, "that not every soap is right for every skin. But I do believe that there is at least one soap formula suitable for each skin type. A girl should make an intelligent selection. There's a right way to scrub, too," Anne grinned. "There are a dozen gadgets on the market to make facial shampoos easy and thorough—brushes, sponges, rubber mitts, liquid soaps. But it takes time to wash and rinse your skin well.

"Girls blame the soap for the way their skin feels after a washing, but the truth is, they didn't rinse the soap off well with warm water and then with cold water. Once scrubbed an oily skin may be treated with an astringent and a dry skin with a bit of powder foundation cream. Then make-up and you are all set."

Prefers Soap To Cleansing Cream
"A lot has been said about removing make-up with cleansing cream in the middle of the day," this beauty expert continued, "but I find the perfect cleanser is water and soap suds! You see I went in for a 'delicate' skin once myself, and used only creams for cleansing, but my English mother wisely changed my treatment! I note that English girls with exquisite complexions scrub first and use cosmetics afterward—and that's what we should do too!"

An assistant director shouted something into the make-up department and Anne grabbed her script and fled in the direction of Stage 7.

Runabout Child Can be Made a Help to Mother

BY ANGELO PATRI
One must look ahead when training a baby and give some thought as to what today's doing will mean to next year's, or to four years from now. Mothers cannot give the same attention to a four-year-old child as they can, and must, give to the new baby. The runabout children have to help themselves a little, and help mother, too. If that is to be managed successfully the training has to begin in the first year. One must look ahead to what is going to be expected of the child and prepare him for it.

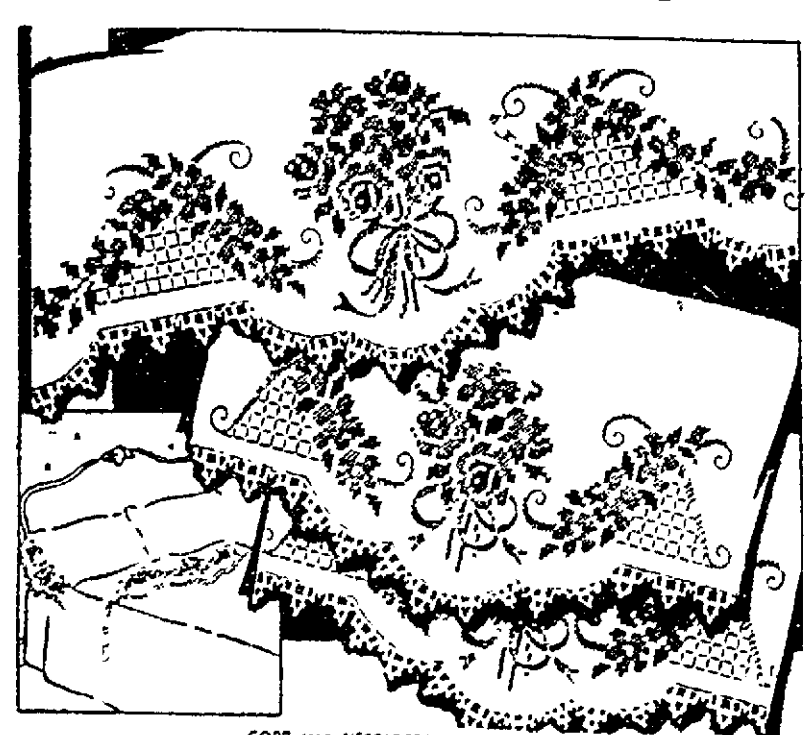

"Millie is a bright, healthy child of four. All she wants to do is play with the children next door. She will not come when I call her, she won't try to dress herself, she won't eat her meals without help, and I have my hands full with the baby. How can I make her behave?"

That is a picture of a child who was treated as a baby too long. She was not trained from the beginning to help herself as much as possible, to help her mother take care of her, and to learn to be independent of anyone's care. She was not trained to be a person in her own right. At four she is a trial instead of a joy. The teaching that was easy in the first two years now becomes a dreaded problem.

Just as soon as a child can hold his own spoon, let him do it. Never mind the spilling. Smile and wipe his chin and encourage him to greater adventures. As soon as he can hold his own wash rag let him do so and encourage his wild swipes. In time they will become definite movements. As soon as he can pick up something he dropped, encourage him for doing so. Teach him steadily to put his things in the place set for them. Train him to come at call by making the experience pleasant.

Train him to regular mealtimes, regular playtimes.
When a child is about two and beginning to get about the house, he ought to be able to play by himself, in a set place, for an hour at a time. He is trained early to do this. When he can sit on the floor in a pen, or in a safe corner, he is given something he likes to play with and taught to stay there contentedly for a given time. Fifteen minutes is about right to start with, and as he

Ace Holdup By No Means A Rigid Rule

BY ELY CULBERTSON
It is the height of folly to "hold up" an ace every time the opponents open a suit not too well guarded by declarer or dummy. Consider today's hand:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Rubber bridge.

♠ K 9
♥ 8 4 3 2
♦ A 9 6
♣ K 8 4 2

WEST
♠ A 7
♥ Q J 7 5
♦ 10 4 3 2

EAST
♠ 8 6 5 3 2

SOUTH
♠ Q J 10 4
♥ A 9
♦ K 8
♣ A 7 6 3

The bidding:
South 1 no trump West 2 no trump East 3 no trump Pass Pass Pass

South departed from orthodoxy by opening with a no trump rather than a spade, because his partner was not a strong player and he felt that if no trump were to be the final contract, he wanted to be the declarer. His self-confidence was justified in this instance.

West opened the six of hearts and East played the king. Declarer considered carefully whether or not to win the trick. Obviously, nine tricks could not be won without clearing the spade suit. The crux was, how many heart tricks could the defenders run? As a guide to the correct decision at the first trick (whether or not to play the ace) declarer called on the Rule of Eleven, as well as a little plain common sense. West's lead of the six spot announced that there were five higher cards in the North, East, and South hands. Declarer's own A-9 and dummy's eight accounted for three of these. East, then, must have started with two. He already had shown the king. What was his other "higher card"? Could it be the seven? No, for in that case West would have the Q-J-10 and certainly would have led the queen. East, therefore, must have as his other higher card either the jack or the ten. (With the queen, he would have played the queen, not the king, on the first trick.)

That fact being established, it followed that a hold-up of the heart ace could only lose, for this reason: If West had started with a four card heart suit, it was unimportant whether or not declarer held up, since only three heart tricks could be run against him, but if West had had five hearts, East held only two. If the king were permitted to win the first lead, declarer's ace would be knocked out on the second lead, and then if West held the spade ace he would have an entry for the cashing of his three remaining hearts. But if declarer smothered East's heart king and then knocked out the spade ace, the heart suit could not become a real menace. If East had the spade ace and continued with his remaining heart honor, West would be unable to overtake without establishing dummy's eight spot. If West had the spade ace the same condition would obtain.

All this takes much longer in the explaining than declarer required for his calculations. He won the first trick and knocked out the spade ace. As he had foreseen, the defenders were blocked in the heart suit, and the contract became a laydown.

Write your bridge troubles and problems to Ely Culbertson, care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

grows the time is lengthened until by the time he is four he is quite self-contained.

Won't Develop Overnight
Little children should be trained early to share in whatever work is about it helps them but the education of the child in helpfulness, in a feeling of family unity and responsibility, is so important that the bother is worthwhile.

Unless the children are trained in the first years they cannot be expected to develop cooperation, helpfulness, initiative, overnight. The coming of a new baby does not create any sudden development of this sort in the run-about child. It creates new duties and difficulties for the mother, and these will be considerably lightened if the children are trained with an eye to this situation from the start.

Set the child's routine, day by day, year by year, so that the habits he acquires will be helpful to him and to those who live with him and want to love him.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Says Adopted Children Should be Told About It

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—We have an adopted boy who was as good and respectful as the average boy is to his parents until one of our neighbors found the record of his adoption in our family Bible and called him into her house and told him all about it. Since then—this happened six years ago—he has been uncontrollable. Says we have no right to boss him. He is impudent to us, using vile and insulting language, and seems to have none of the affection that he used to show us. He is now 19, and when he works he makes good money, and stays with his friends, but as soon as he is broke he comes home to us. My husband has suffered an accident and will be a cripple the rest of his life, so we need the boy's help, but he refuses it and asks why should he support us, as we are no kin to him? What should we do?

Dorothy Dix

Answer:
There is only one thing to do. Turn the ingrate out of doors and refuse to let him come back and sponge on you when he is out of money. There is nothing to appeal to in the boy, for evidently he has neither heart nor principle nor gratitude, else he would appreciate the kindness you have always shown him and remember how, when he was homeless and friendless, you gave him a mother's and father's love and help and care.

But your case emphasizes again the importance of telling adopted children that they are adopted when they are so young the knowledge does not make any impression upon them. If that is done, they grow up understanding the relationship between them and their foster parents and feel towards them as one does to a tender and loving friend to whom one owes countless benefits.

Tell Child the Truth
But when a child grows up believing that those whom he has always called father and mother are his real father and mother, and then discovers that he has been deceived by those he trusted, almost always it gives him a shock from which he never recovers. It shakes his faith in everything, and only too often turns his love into enmity.

This should not be the case, of course. When an adolescent child becomes aware that he is an adopted child and that he has no natural claim upon the man and woman who have fathered and mothered him; who have given him their name and shared their home with him; who have worked to support him and sacrificed to educate him, and who have loved so tenderly that he has not even dreamed that he was not of their flesh and bone, it should fill him with gratitude toward them and make him feel that nothing he could do could ever repay them, and that his duty toward them is a hundred-fold greater than would be that of an own child to his parents.

But this seldom happens. The belated knowledge that one has been deceived and that only legal red tape and not the tie of blood binds one to Mom and Dad is more than self-conscious youth can stand, and it generally wipes out all memory of benefits received.

On the contrary, if children have always known that they were adopted children, it makes no difference to them, and the relationship between them and their foster parents goes on smoothly.

I know one adopted child who considers it a distinction to be adopted and regards with scorn a mere mother's baby. "Your mother," she says, "had to take you because the doctor brought you to her, but my mother looked around everywhere until she found me."

That wise mother lives in no dread of somebody telling the child, as somebody surely would in time, that she is adopted. Nor will there ever be any tragedy of the child finding out what she has always known and accepted.

Childless Marriage
Not Always Happy

Dear Miss Dix—I am a man of 30 and I wish to marry, in order to have the companionship of a woman; but I have made up my mind that I will never have any children. Is it all right to get married, even if I don't want children? And should I tell the woman my views in the matter when I ask her to marry me?

Case Records of a Psychologist By Dr. George W. Crane

Psychologist, Northwestern University

Here is a scientific story about the most famous giant in the world. I have seen him personally. In fact, he has sat in my office on hundreds of occasions, and I wouldn't be surprised if he doesn't show up in your community. Be sure to read this story to your children, for Ogre U. illustrates one of the axioms of psychology.

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE R-158: Ogre U., aged 25, was a terrible giant of antiquity.

"But I am going to cast a spell over you," said the Good Fairy, as she waved her magic wand over his ugly head.

"For the next 10 years you are going to do good. You will show mercy and kindness to everybody. You will be diligent in well doing." Then she disappeared. Ogre blinked his eyes. Soon he saw a team of oxen stuck in the mud down the road. As he approached the wagon, the driver started to flee in terror, thinking that Ogre was going to devour him, as was the giant's previous custom.

"Don't be afraid of me," the words surprised even Ogre himself. "I am only going to help lift your wagon out of the mud so you can get home to your family," and he did.

The peasant was still so frightened that he couldn't voice his thanks. He drove off hastily, thinking that Ogre must be crazy.

More Magic From Fairyland
Days and weeks passed, with Ogre always doing good. Month succeeded month and still the giant was the champion of the weak and down-trodden.

Finally, the peasants began to look forward to his coming with pleasure. They showed their friendship by offering him the best food they could cook. He no longer appeared ugly.

At the end of the 10 years, they elected him king, for he was their fairly worshiped by everybody. And

Tot's Girdle-Waisted

BY ANNE ADAMS

It's satisfying to have the "best-dressed child" of any woman in your set . . . and easy fun, too, with a Pattern like 4545. This Anne Adams frock combines jaunty style with simple dressmaking. See how effective a bias cut looks on the front waist band and bodice panels when you use plaid fabric! And so easy to do—with the Instruction Sheet to show how! The brief flaring skirt is in two pieces; the sash ties perkily in back. You'll like the rounded collar in either self-fabric or crisp contrast, perhaps with the panels to match—a vestee effect. Bloomers or panties are included.

Pattern 4545 is available in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6, short sleeve dress, takes 2 yards 35 inch fabric; long sleeve dress, 2 yards 39 inch fabric, and 1 yard contrast.

Good Taste Today by Emily Post

PRIVATE SECRETARY

To a secretary who ask if it is necessary that she knock every time she goes into her employer's private office, I should say that it would be not only a very unusual exaction, but an impractical one. A man who is busy would certainly find it much more distracting to be interrupted in order to answer "Come in" than to have his secretary walk in quietly, do whatever she has to do, and then go out again. I doubt very much if he were occupied that he would even know that she had come and gone unless she had been obliged to ask him a question before leaving. In fact, should anyone see her knocking, it would look very strange.

OLD-FASHIONED WIFE.

You must be not only old-fashioned, but prehistoric, if you believe that the mother could make the girl behave herself, or that she would give up a married lover who undoubtedly is easy money to her. Don't humiliate yourself by appealing to the "other woman" to restore your philandering husband to you.

Removing the Magic Spell
But that very night the Good Fairy returned and waved her magic wand above his head, removing the spell.

Next morning Ogre awoke and started down the road again. He saw a team of oxen stuck in a mud-hole. He hastened toward them. The peasant driver did not know that the magic spell had been removed, so he had perfect confidence in Ogre's friendliness. While the peasant was getting his shoulder against the wagon to help push, Ogre seized him from behind and lifted him in the air.

Then he set him on the driver's seat and pried the wagon out of the mud, for Ogre's 10 years of good habit were so powerful that he could not go back to his viciousness anymore.

So the Good Fairy returned and christened him Happy I, under which name he lived and ruled the people wisely.

Ogre U Or Happy I

It is within the power of every individual to change himself from Ogre U to Happy I. In Dickens' "Christmas Carol" you may recall the beautiful illustration of this dramatic transformation in the behavior of Scrooge.

Time and again I have given you readers the magic formula by which you can transform yourselves into the Good Giant.

"Act the way you'd like to be and soon you'll be the way you act." Curb the caustic, biting words. Don't pass on nasty gossip. Return good for evil. Nobody is so devoid of virtue that he cannot merit an honest compliment if we but open our eyes and look for his talents.

A word of praise generates friendship. Unselfishness begets unselfishness, whereas anger generates anger. But somebody must always take the initiative, so start doing good things for your associates. Praise their honest virtues. It will not require 10 years before the Ogre U becomes Happy I.

Casual Slaughters

By Virginia Hanson

YESTERDAY: Kay, Julia and Gerald go back for another swim. While they are in the water they see someone on the barge. Later Ivan is found there, dead.

Chapter 17
Early Wedding

It is easy to look back now and see that Sandra and Ivan between them practically signed his death warrant that night. It is less easy to see why Sandra was not warned by Ivan's death. Which brings up Sandra and her stupidity, that was not so much stupidity as a mixture of credulity and conceit. I believe her successes had convinced her that she was infallible. On top of that she was without discrimination, as her weakness for Ivan shows; and she believed in miracles.

This last is the most important single fact to remember—the essential clue not only to her character but to the terrifying events which followed the death of Ivan.

Sandra's belief in miracles. She came to my rooms the next morning before I was awake. Julia had not stayed with me after all. Ivan had not needed her room.

I put on a housecoat and opened the door to Sandra, trying not to show my surprise; trying, too, to keep my head from floating loose from my shoulders; it seemed insecurely moored.

A surreptitious glance at my watch told me it was not as early as I thought. I had overslept breakfast. I searched for and found cigarettes, which she refused, lit one myself that did not taste too good, and tried to get her to sit down. But she would only stand leaning back against the door, looking at me and twisting her hands in a gesture borrowed from the stage but expressive for once, I thought, of genuine emotion.

Her eyes, swollen with weeping, recalled to me that incredible moment on the barge when I had seen her clinging to Ivan. Could she have loved that mountebank? Apparently she had. Then why, in the name of all the saints, had she promised to marry Jeff?

Perhaps if I had been more fully awake, or if my head had not felt so light and explosive, I might have pressed her for some of the answers; might have caught her off guard, staggered by this calamity, which must, for a time at least, have shaken her belief in her patron saint or her rabbit's foot or whatever she did believe in. Perhaps I missed my chance to avert more tragedy. But I do not seriously think so. She would never have confided in me. She was too stupid to be frightened of what she was planning to do; and Ivan's death, that fate owed her a break.

She said, suddenly, "I had to get out of that house. They—they made fun of him. They're glad. They thought he wasn't good enough."

Her voice was getting shrill. She choked, said more quietly, "I want to talk to Jeff without their knowing. She's in love with him, you know. But it's me he wants to marry."

There was enough satisfied malice in that to alienate the sympathy I was beginning to feel for her.

Shock Of Dismay

"But if you're not in love with Jeff yourself," I began rather brusquely. She opened her small dark eyes and stared at me as if I were mad.

"Not in love with Jeff?" she repeated incredulously. "Why, how can you say such a thing? It's just because I'm so fond of him—that's why I've decided—why I slipped away this morning. Look—do you mind if I talk to him here?" You can send an orderly for him.

"But he'll be at duty—oh, this is Sunday, isn't it? My head's not on tonight."

I looked her over, saw that she was once more miraculously composed, and suggested that she find the orderly herself.

"I'll dress and get out as soon as possible," I promised her. "I'm going to the P. Ex. for breakfast."

"Don't leave on my account. There's nothing private about what I have to say to Jeff—I just don't want to be interfered with. I want to handle my own affairs."

I assured her that it was my stomach and not her interview that was sending me forth, and retired into my bedroom to dress. I heard her waylay an orderly in the hall, and before I was quite dressed I heard Jeff's voice in the next room.

Having no wish to eavesdrop, I was nevertheless an unwilling audience to Sandra's demand that they be married at once.

I felt a shock of dismay. Unlike Sandra, I do not believe in miracles, but I do like happy endings. Julia was so desperately in love with Jeff that I would not admit fate could let her lose him. The scene on the barge last night had fed my secret hope that something would happen. If only Julia had been less gentlemanly; if only Jeff had seen what we saw—

His voice was a brief, indistinct rumble—dissenting. I thought, for hers strengthening in passionate entirety.

"But you can apply for earlier leave—and what does it matter, anyway? I can move over here—we can be together—"

Her voice dropped to a caress—of the long section of her veil that hangs down in front?

Answer: The veil only hangs to the bouquet.

THE HOME GARDENER by EDWIN H. PERKINS

English daisies, Bellis perennis are among the first flowers to glory in the spring garden. This dainty, wedge-shaped, which dislikes hot weather, makes a fine show before hot weather arrives. Then it declines.

While the plant is truly a perennial it lives over from year to year in only a few favored spots of its own selection. Every effort of man has failed in attempting to acclimate it to hot summers. Each year gardeners, who like the daintiness of this perennial, sow the seed in July along with those of pansies.

From all checks made thus far the seedlings of English daisies acted like their parents and gave up the ghost during the hot weather.

To those whose efforts failed, it is suggested that another planting be made without delay. The weather now should encourage the seed to rapid life and if the plants are protected in a cold frame or with light brush after cold weather finally arrives, the chances are two to one that a fine crop of their composite flowers will reward your efforts in early spring—by which time the loss of the early seedling will have been forgotten.

A little rotted cow manure used as a winter mulch will also stimulate the roots each time we have a snow fall and thus produce fine plants with sturdy root systems.

My Neighbor Says—

If you have had blight or fire disease on your tulips discard the infected bulbs and plant healthy bulbs on new ground.

To keep muslin curtains even when laundering them, put two curtains together and iron as one curtain.

To restore fireplace bricks to their natural color and keep them clean, wash them in a mixture of 2 ounces soda, 1 ounce pumice stone, 1 ounce salt mixed with water till it forms a cream.

Cottage or cream cheese moistened with orange juice makes a delicious filling for peach or pear salads.

A new tangy appetizer is equal portions of tomato and sauerkraut juices. Add a slice of onion for each two cups of combined, juice before chilling but remove them before putting the juice on the table.

Pegler Would Like to See Probe of Newspaper Guild

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—Seated last night at the typewriter, idly tapping the keys, I wondered what would happen to a newspaper publisher who, under the obligations put upon him by the privilege of a free press and in patriotic good faith, decided to investigate an organization which he had reason to suspect of subversive activities or affiliations and, to that end, assigned a reporter to join the group, if that group happened to be the American Newspaper Guild.

Now, this American Newspaper Guild is a detached auxiliary, or transmission belt, of the communist party and, by all the traditions of American journalism, should be investigated from the inside and exposed to the public in the same manner that the Ku Klux Klan was investigated and exposed by the old world. Yet it enjoys the status of a labor union in the C.I.O. and, under the Wagner act, any employer, in this case a publisher, who assigns a man to join it and reveal its secrets in the public interest would surely be convicted of unfair labor practice. He probably would have young Bob LaFollette all over him for anti-labor espionage as well.

Of course, this hypothetical employer has a number of staff men on his pay roll who are members of this Stalinist group—some willing, others under compulsion—but they are not available for investigation, because, being bona fide members, they are bound not to betray any secrets of the lodge and might be chased out of the newspaper business for good if they should squeal.

The man for this task would have to be a non-member, and he would have to join with his fingers crossed for the purpose of obtaining evidence on the communist leadership, control and policies of the guild. There are plenty of ex-members around who remember speeches and incidents in guild meetings which would bear on the secret subject, but, unlike the communists, who are always blabbing in print for a little money the confidences which they received in party meetings, these non-communist ex-members wouldn't tell.

Still, it is a duty of the American free press to expose the inner workings of organizations which operate under the protection of American law in the interests of foreign conspirators, and here we have a case in which a publisher would be severely punished by his own government for doing his professional and patriotic duty.

The communist bosses of the guild deny that they are communists, but government employee and, on the contrary, would get no sympathy from any of the government agencies having to deal with his case.

The labor board certainly would hold that in doing his journalistic duty as a reporter on assignment, even though he proved convincingly that the guild was an auxiliary of the communist party, he had deserved the guild's revenge. The publisher would get his lumps for making the assignment, and the reporter would get his for performing a legitimate and patriotic mission. This is one reason why you never see anything in print which tells exactly what goes on in the meetings of this organization and that, incidentally, shows that the newspaper guild is sitting pretty with an absolute government protection against exposure.

There are several other C. I. O. unions dominated by communists which should be similarly investigated, and the same legal and entangled or illegal protection runs for them, but I am confining my discussion to the newspaper guild, because here is a Stalinist conspiracy tunneling away under the foundations of our building, and our own government would give us hell if we should send down to find out what goes on.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 quarts a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness, frequent or scanty passages with a burning and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Chamber Has Speakers On Mobilization Drive

A speaker's bureau, through which organizations and clubs in this vicinity may secure men to talk on phases of the program for the mobilization of public understanding of private enterprise, has been set up by a chamber of commerce committee, according to Kenneth Corbett, secretary. Organizations desiring speakers on this subject are to get in touch with the secretary.

RAINY WEATHER PASTIME—With picnics, swimming and other outdoor activities curtailed by the unseasonably cool and wet weather, bridge and knitting are practically the only pastimes left with which Appleton hostesses can entertain their guests. Mrs. R. Hampton Purdy, 803 E. College avenue, left, and her house guest, Miss Ethelene Secord, Wauwatosa, right, are among those who have been occupying their time knitting. Miss Secord was Mrs. Purdy's maid of honor at her wedding last summer. (Post-Crescent Photo.)

Margaret Plank Becomes Bride of Otto G. Koller in St. Joseph Church Service

Miss Margaret Plank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Plank, 240 W. Prospect avenue, and Otto G. Koller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Koller, 1614 S. Jefferson street, were married at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Joseph's church. The Rev. Father Cyprian, O. M. Cap., performed the ceremony. The wedding is the third one in the Plank family to take place on Aug. 29. The bride's parents are observing their thirty-fourth wedding anniversary today, and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brown, were married seven years ago today.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride had as her only attendant her sister, Miss Annette Plank. Albert Koller was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Robert Rechner, brother-in-law of the bride, William Plank, her brother, and brothers of the bridegroom.

A quartet composed of Anton Koehn, George Theiss, Charles Feuerstein and Joseph Haag sang "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," "O Lord, I Am Not Worthy" and "Jesus Dulcis." George Theiss and his father, Prof. A. J. Theiss, sang as a duet "Ave Maria."

Instead of the usual white, the bride's gown was an ivory color called champagne. It had a shirred bodice and a very full chiffon skirt over net, and its color was watched by the champagne veil which fell from a sweetheart halo. The bride carried an all-white bouquet of lilies, roses and gladioli.

Immediately after the ceremony the young couple received a few intimate friends and relatives at the home of the bride's parents. A wedding breakfast for the immediate families was served this noon at Butte des Morts Golf club.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding are Mr. and Mrs. William Kamps, Mary Kamps and Mr. and Mrs. John Kamps, Milwaukee; and Carl Reiss, Oshkosh.

When they return from a wedding trip, Mr. Koller and his bride will reside at 208 W. Prospect avenue. He is employed by the Wadham Oil company.

Ruckdashed-Dernbach

The last named stamp is especially interesting because of the legend it illustrates. When the boy Matthias was captured and taken to Prague, the story says, his mother sent him a letter by a raven, which returned with the boy's ring.

New U. S. stamps will be out often enough to please philatelists this fall. Six are due in September and five in October. There is a possibility of a national defense stamp early in the fall.

Emphasize Need for Training Planes for U. S. Armed Forces

Washington — (P) — The government's emphasis on the purchase of training rather than combat planes was stressed anew today in the controversy over orders for aircraft.

The latest contract, announced by the army last night, called for 850 training and 20 transports costing $14,410,233. Delivery dates were not specified.

Senator Byrd (D-Va.) stirred up the controversy last week with an assertion that only 343 combat planes had been ordered in the last 100 days. President Roosevelt later confirmed the correctness of that figure but said that Byrd's implication was dead wrong.

The president added that one of the prime objectives of the air program was first to acquire training planes to instruct pilots for a major air fleet. Secretary Knox voiced the same thought yesterday in outlining the orders placed by the navy and struck at what he termed "unintelligent criticism" of the program.

Combined figures from the White House, army, navy and defense commission gave this overall picture of military planes ordered but not yet delivered:

Planes for which contracts have been signed—7,231.

Planes being built under letters of intention from the government—3,654.

Total on order—10,885.

Taking only the planes for which contracts have been signed (7,231), navy and commission figures give:

Combat planes—Navy, 1,031; army, 1,858; total, 2,889.

Training and other planes—Navy, 1,500; army, 2,842; total, 4,342.

Mayor Goodland Vetos Renewal Of Insurance

Suggests Appleton Begin To Build Up Reserve Of Its Own

Including a recommendation that Appleton build up a fire insurance fund of its own, Mayor John Goodland, Jr., yesterday vetoed the council's Aug. 23 vote in renewing $127,530 insurance on city buildings.

In his veto message the mayor stated "I cannot help but feel that the insurance committee has given the matter . . . a thorough investigation" and "the saving of over $500 should be recognized and I wish to support the committee in its findings and recommendations."

Aug. 21 the committee recommended the insurance be placed with Federated Hardware Mutuals at an estimated net cost of $807.77, which it said would mean a saving of $538.51 to the taxpayers of Appleton. Asked to reconsider, hearing in the meantime propositions of other companies, two nights later the committee repeated its previous recommendation, but the council voted for removal of the present policies, held by stock companies.

"I believe the time has arrived when Appleton should do as many other cities are doing," the mayor stated. "That is, to build up a fire insurance fund so that eventually the city will be able to carry its own insurance. Therefore, I would suggest at this time, that we discontinue insurance on the following buildings, which I feel the city would be able to carry, and if there should be a fire loss it would not embarrass the city financially in any way: the wooden building and cement block building on the fairgrounds, the barn at city home, the isolation hospital, the old pumping station and the fire department."

"The premiums from these policies should be placed in a fire insurance fund, which should be created by ordinance, so that the monies therein can't be used for any other purpose. The saving of over $500 as mentioned in the insurance committee's report also should be placed in the fund."

Alsation Weeds Don't Care About Frontiers

Basel, Switzerland.—(P)—And wind from Alsace and the Vosges is an ill wind for thousands of Swiss farmers.

War drove Alsation and Vosges farmers away from their fields after the 1939 harvest and they couldn't get back for 1940.

What once were rich fields now are forests of weeds, going to seed. The winds waft the seeds for miles, with no regard for frontiers. Farmers all over northwestern Switzerland are fighting a losing battle against weeds in hitherto immaculate fields.

Non-Citizen Registration Is Underway at Post Office

Twenty non-citizens have gone through the half-hour registration and finger-printing procedure required of aliens at the Appleton post office, according to Stephen D. Balliet, postmaster. "Post office employees have become familiar with the method of registering and we are making the process unembarrassing and strictly confidential," the postmaster said.

Registration offices are located on the second floor of the post office building. Preliminary blanks or work sheets may be obtained at the post office or from mail carriers and should be filled out and returned to the post office any time during the 4-month period which will close Dec. 26. "Questions about which there is doubt should be left blank," Balliet said and suggested that friends or relatives might be able to aid in filling them out. Aliens may obtain free help at the post office at any time, he said.

Final registration at the post office consists of filling out a primary registration form, taking an oath swearing to the truth of statements given and having fingerprints taken. Each alien will be sent a receipt of registration after completing the procedure.

Questions on the primary form include personal identification, place and date of birth, method of entry into the United States, occupation, activities including clubs and organizations or societies, military or naval service, information regarding citizenship applications, relatives in United States, arrests for offenses, and a question reading, "Within the past five years I have have not been affiliated with or active in (a member of, official of, a worker for) organizations, devoted in whole or in part to influencing or furthering the political activities, public relations or public policy of a foreign government."

After all questions have been filled out by the post office employee, all aliens must take an oath reading "I have read or have had read to me the above statements, and do hereby swear (or affirm) that these statements are true and complete to the best of my knowledge and belief." The fingerprint of the right index finger also is affixed to this form.

On another form is taken a complete set of fingerprints of each finger.

A person may register as a matter of protection although he believes he is not obliged to do so, and this fact will be noted on the registration blank, Balliet said.

Aliens must register their children under 14 years of age. Registration is compulsory, and aliens failing to register are subject to a fine of $1,000, six months' imprisonment or both.

Non-citizens unable to leave their homes should write or telephone the post office, and arrangements will be made to visit them at their homes, the postmaster added.

That the request of Mayme Knapstein for a no parking zone in front of her business place at 209 W. Lawrence street be denied.

That a petition for 90-minute parking on W. Harris street between Richmond and Locust streets be denied.

Appleton Youth Is Killed When Car Hits Ditch

Way 76, about five miles northwest of Appleton, according to Captain Charles Steidl, of the county highway police.

Morris told Captain Steidl that he saw the horse running towards his car so he stopped. The horse, apparently, blinded by the lights, crashed into the front end of the automobile and had to be killed later.

Killed by Train

Stoughton.—(P)—Luther Kroken, 60, was struck and killed by a Milwaukee road passenger train on the Pleasant Springs bridge over the Yahara river about three miles north of here late yesterday. A witness said Kroken, who was partly deaf, had been fishing from the bridge.

Richland Center.—(P)—Marcella Marshall, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Marshall, died at a hospital here last night of injuries received at her farm home in the town of Bloom. The child, authorities said, was struck by a car driven by Orrin Braithwaite, 19, an employee at the farm, while she was playing with other children at a community 4-H club party.

Neillsville.—(P)—Harold Miller, 13, was instantly killed when the bicycle he was riding was struck by the car of Donald Wall, Neillsville, on Highway 73 just south of here last night. A coroner's inquest will be held Wednesday.

Mauston.—(P)—Alvin Bennett, 8-year-old son of Vern Bennett, died yesterday of a cerebral hemorrhage, the result of a fall from a hayrack on his father's farm.

Dr. Koehler Would Promote Dairying

Baraboo.—(P)—"Much pioneering work still has to be done to get the people of the nation acquainted with the health value of Wisconsin's milk and cheese," Dr. John P. Koehler, candidate for the Republican U. S. senatorial nomination, told the Sauk County Women's Republican club yesterday.

"My wide acquaintance with other public health officials of the country should put me in a good position to work in harmony and cooperation with them in order to promote our great dairy industry," said Dr. Koehler, former Milwaukee public health commissioner.

"As a U. S. senator, I will be in a good position to protect Wisconsin's dairy industry against the encroachments of cheap foreign importations."

Band, Dancing Acts to be Quartet Tournery Features

A clownish German band, an acrobatic dance team of four girls, and an 11-year-old tap-dancing and baton-twirling boy will be among the special features at the Barber Shop Quartet tournament next Wednesday night at Pierce park.

The German band will entertain during the time the crowd is being seated and at other intervals.

Dick Mauthe, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mauthe, Kimberly, will appear in a specialty tap number and follow it up with a baton twirling exhibition.

Quartets from Appleton and vicinity will appear in the non-competitive tournament, open to the public without charge. There is still nearly a week for quartets to enter the tournament—and the holiday weekend will give plenty of time for rehearsal.

There will be community singing at the rally, led by Marty Van Rooy and Bob Connelly will act as master of ceremonies.

Old-time harmony, sung in old-time style, will be heard at the outdoor program, the first of its kind held in these parts.

Brighter Skies Over Labor Day

Showers Tonight; High Pressure Area Will Disperse Clouds

Although Appleton appears to be in for more cloudy weather and occasional showers tonight, forecasters said today that brighter weather is in store for much of the middle west at the end of the week.

Partly cloudy with scattered showers in the eastern and central portions of Wisconsin is predicted for tonight and in the extreme eastern portion for Friday morning. Cooler temperatures are expected Friday.

Except for the lower Great Lakes area and parts of the Ohio river valley, United States meteorologists reported that the rains which started a week ago are almost over. An extensive high pressure area, comparatively cool, is moving eastward from the Rocky mountains and northern plains states, but its drift is such, the weather bureau indicates, that this region should experience no undue chilliness.

Highest temperature recorded in Appleton by the Wisconsin Michigan Power company during the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning was 78 degrees at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The low of 63 degrees was recorded at 9 o'clock this morning. The thermometer atop the Post-Crescent building stood at 74 degrees at noon today.

Phoenix, Ariz., stood at the top of the nation's thermometer yesterday with a temperature of 105 degrees. Lowest temperature reported by official weather bureau stations throughout the United States was 39 degrees at Yellowstone, Wyo.

Order Restrains 9 Milwaukee Barbers

Milwaukee.—(P)—Circuit Judge C. L. Aarons yesterday issued an order restraining nine Milwaukee barbers from allegedly violating the state barbers' code pending a supreme court ruling on constitutionality of the code.

Circuit Judge G. G. Gehrz recently held unconstitutional the law settling up the state code and Fred Wylie, code authority counsel, said that barbers have been led to believe the law was nullified by decision of the lower court.

Worst Raid of War on Berlin

and last night. Germany admitted losing 15.

Two airports in southeast England cut out for particular attack were named as much bombed Eastchurch and Southend.

Most of the British bombs in Berlin fell in a workers district.

Reporters Make Tour

While an early-morning automobile inspection tour appeared to bear out the authorities' claim that no military objectives of consequence were hit, army officers, firemen and police hastened to Kottbusser street, in the southeastern part of the city, where the chief damage was done.

Through arrangement with the propaganda ministry, three American newspapermen, including an Associated Press correspondent, were taken on a two-hour tour.

Such places as Tempelhof air-drome, where civilian planes were being warmed up, the Klingenberg power plant, which supplies half of Berlin, and railway stations all were undamaged.

Incendiary bombs apparently outnumbered the high explosives dropped by the British planes, for roof fires were reported from several parts of the city.

So high were the raiders that powerful searchlights were unable to pick them out, despite a cloudless sky and only heavy anti-aircraft guns were called into action.

Indiana Pair Is Convinced That Cleanliness Pays

Chicago —(P)— James R. Miller and his wife, who operate a 220-acre dairy farm near Akron, Ind., are convinced that neatness pays—and they have an 8-day free vacation trip to New York's World fair to back their convictions.

The Millers piled up a score of 99½ per cent to win the grand championship of the seventh annual Chicago's neatest dairy farm contest, sponsored by the Pure Milk association.

As a reward they received the trip which includes stop-overs at Washington and Atlantic City.

Second place went to Gust H. Grieger of Valparaiso, and third to Harold Ebenholz of Bartlett, Ill. District winners in the area which includes 30 counties of Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana, follow:

Robert W. Higday, Evansville, Wis.; J. W. Snyder, Clinton, Wis.; Norman W. Harris, Williams Bay, Wis.; Gilbert Vos, Rochester, Wis.; Albert W. Ollman, Kingston, Ill.; B. W. Cooke, Woodstock, Ill.; Steve Skayer, Wadsworth, Ill.; Cyrus Fattland, Sandwich, Ill.; Albert V. Herrmann, Burlington, Ill.; Harold E. Ament, Plano, Ill.; Ruth B. Britain Faces Bitter Attacks

don and throughout the country caused the British Press association to describe the raid as Germany's "most venomous attack of the war against Britain."

Raiders Cut Motors

Just before last night's raids began the government announced the British had shot down 28 of yesterday's German daylight raiders while losing 12 planes themselves.

One midland town was attacked last night by raiders who cut out their motors to avoid drawing searchlight beams, gliding down to their attack. Some 70 bombs were dropped before British spitfire fighter planes could get into the air to engage the invaders.

Meanwhile, Britain's own bomber force was at work during the night in enemy territory.

(Berlin had its longest and worst air raid of the war as British bombers crossed and recrossed the German capital, and sprinkled explosive and incendiary bombs but two miles from the chancellery, starting many roof fires and craters.)

The admiralty announced its dive bombers destroyed the only two remaining oil tanks at a depot on the Norwegian coast previously attacked, set fire to a patrol vessel and scored two direct hits on a 2,000-ton supply ship.

The island of Jamaica is a British possession.

at her back so she may draw upon Balkan raw materials without interference.

The Nazi press stressed that the four-power meeting "will be of importance not only for the future fashioning of the southeast, but also of Europe and the world. Here great English intrigue of the post-war period is being liquidated."

Bucharest —(P)— Fearful of new clashes between Soviet and Rumanian troops following a declaration of King Carol's government that it will yield no more ground to the Russians, hundreds of residents of southern Bucovina and Moldavia were reported moving hurriedly southward into the old pre-World war kingdom of Rumania today.

The evodus was the liveliest between the River Prut and Siret, where troops of both sides are said to be concentrating. Clashes, said to have arisen from the fact that the new border is not clearly defined yet were reported there earlier this week.

Still another Soviet demand growing out of the seizure of the province of Bessarabia has been received by the Rumanian government, Rumanians said.

the amendments which the senate voted yesterday before it reached the end of its 13 day finish-fight on the legislation which would give the nation the first peacetime conscription program in its history.

Industrial Draft Plan

The end came in the senate after the conscription forces had beaten off one attempt after another to postpone or nullify the draft provisions of the bill.

First, however, the conscriptionists themselves joined in adding some extraneous amendments, notably the joint amendment by Senators Russell (D-Ga.) and Overton (D-La.) giving the government power to take over industrial plants for the manufacture of defense materials.

Some house members predicted that the "conscription industry" provision would meet strong opposition next week, but they said they anticipated little fight on another of the final changes—the amendment of Senator Adams (D-Colo.) which would extend the present aircraft profit limitation of 7 and 8 per cent to cover guns, ammunition, material and other equipment.

The "big push" on amendments, to postpone immediate conscription or otherwise nullify the bill's purpose found the senate conscription forces clearly in command of the situation at all times.

One Close Call

Their only close call came on a proposal by Senator Hayden (D-Ariz.) to postpone conscription for 60 days while an attempt was made to raise the necessary manpower for the army by voluntary enlistments.

This beaten by a vote of 43 to 41, they breathed a sigh of relief and proceeded to "take other amendments in stride."

Once the senate had passed the bill, Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) called up a $5,000,000,000 house-approved defense appropriations bill making it the unfinished business.

Barkley urged quick action on this measure, carrying funds for starting construction work on 200 fighting ships for a "two-ocean" navy and providing money and contract authority for 14,394 army and navy planes for cost eventually more than $2,000,000,000.

Designed to carry out President Roosevelt's suggested "total defense" program, the measure would provide money to equip an army of 2,000,000 men.

Senators LaFollette (P) and Wiley (R) of Wisconsin and Brown (D) and Vandenberg (R) of Michigan voted against the conscription bill.

Senator LaFollette voted for the amendment to the bill giving the government authority to take over industrial plants for defense purposes. Vandenberg, Brown and Wiley opposed this amendment.

shrewdly, setting down the empty glass.

I nodded, feeling guilty, as if we were guests discussing an absent hostess, which was not a good analogy, for we were both paying for our board and lodging. Nevertheless, I felt disloyal.

"I couldn't help noticing," he went on soberly, "that it wasn't so much the fact of that poor devil being killed that occasioned the indignation last night, as the fact that it happened on the reservation."

"You can't blame them for that. Murder makes ugly headlines." And, changing the subject not altogether happily, "I left Sandra and Jeff in my rooms planning an early wedding."

His eyes flew to my face and his butter knife hesitated over the toast.

"Too bad," he sounded as if he meant it.

"Why?"

"Julia is a much nicer person." I studied him for a moment while he went on prosaically consuming bits of toast.

"No disagreement about that," I said at last carefully. "But she's known Jeff all her life. I don't suppose he seems very romantic to her."

"Oh, doesn't he?"

There was literally no expression to the words—an effect which I know from experience is almost impossible to achieve. It rang a little bell somewhere in my brain—like the one on my typewriter that I pay no attention to. I didn't pay much attention to this, either, in the sense of getting scared and thinking, this man could be a murderer; I was pretty sold on him. But the thought did just cross my mind that he might have depths.

"That's not the only reason it's too bad," he observed presently. And the gray eyes were so open and candid that I forgot about the depths.

"What else?"

"Murder investigation," he reminded me. "Wife can't testify against her husband. I've studied a bit of law," he added modestly, and then quite obviously said no more.

"But—but you surely don't think Je—" I began and, with sudden horror, remembered Sandra in Ivan's arms and Jeff coming up the ladder. Could he have seen? Could he have killed Ivan in a jealous rage?

Gerald did not appear to notice my discomposure.

"I know less about it than the newest recruit," he assured me. "Here's your check. If you girls will vote you must take the bitter with the sweet and learn not to depend on masculine chivalry. If I had invited you to breakfast I should simply have to stand for your eating up fifteen cents, but since this is virtually a pickup, I must insist that you pay your way."

The cashier's goggling stare pursued us to the street.

"But I still think it's too bad," Gerald said with no change of tone. "Someone's sure to think she's protecting him."

"That's nonsense," I said sharply. But I knew that it was not.

Julia, I needed to see Julia. I stood on the sidewalk in front of the Post Exchange and thought about going there now. Then I remembered Gerald's depths and his rather disconcerting way of leaping upon a conclusion. And meekly, but uneasily, I walked beside him back to the club.

Sandra was still in my rooms, but I was relieved to find that Jeff had taken himself off.

"He's gone to see a man he knows about getting a special license," she told me. "We're going to be married today if we can."

Relief Burdens Lighten in July

Madison — With few exceptions the relief load in the Fox river valley and neighboring counties declined in conformity with a statewide trend in the month of July, the state public welfare department showed in a statistical report today.

During the June to July period, the state general relief load declined from 45,810 to 43,420 cases, a decline of more than five per cent. The result was attributed to improving business conditions with attendant gains in employment, and the increase of WPA employment in Wisconsin during the month.

The state and its municipalities, however, are still paying out approximately a million dollars monthly in direct relief charges, it was shown. The localities continue to bear the bulk of the load, with state participation limited to about $100,000 a month.

Figures on the caseloads, and the charges from June to July, of the counties in the Appleton area are reported as follows by the relief division of the public welfare department:

County	Load	Pct. Change
Brown	1,060	-106
Outagamie	466	-45
Calumet	78	-13
Shawano	254	-18.1
Waupaca	366	+0.8
Manitowoc	427	-10.1
Winnebago	945	-18

Consider Plats

A meeting of the city planning commission will be called soon to consider three plats for recommendation, according to Mayor John Goodland, Jr. The plats will come before the council Wednesday.

Nearly All European Mail on U. S. Ships Subject to Censorship

New York —(AP)—Virtually all European mail carried on American ships is being subjected to British censorship at Bermuda as a condition of permission to pass through the British blockade, it became known Wednesday.

While British consulate officials denied that American shippers were required to agree to censorship, they declared that a stop at Bermuda "might be one of the conditions" under which a navicert, or passport through British contraband control, would be granted.

The only United States operators of ships plying between this country and Lisbon, Portugal—Lone European outlet open to American ships—is the American Export Lines. British embassy officials in Washington said they had told the line its ships would have to submit to the blockade at some point and that the line had chosen Bermuda.

Pan American Airways is the only other American carrier of mails operating in the European service. Hundreds of sacks of mail have been removed from its clippers at Bermuda in the last 18 days.

10 Per Cent Increase In Freight Loadings

Milwaukee road freight car loadings out of Appleton this year are running about 10 per cent above those of last year, according to the local office. Paper products account for most of the shipments.

Committee Session

The finance committee of the council will hold a regular session at 1:30 Friday afternoon. Approval of accounts and other matters to come before the Sept. 4 session are on the slate.

$23,600,000 of Highway Fund Used by State, Alliance Says

Madison — "At least $23,605,110 of highway moneys had been used for general state expenses by the end of June 30, 1940," according to the latest report of highway finances issued by the Wisconsin Taxpayers' alliance.

"Unexpended highway commission appropriation balances on June 30, 1930 totaled $31,021,187, virtually one full year's collections of gasoline taxes and automobile license fees," according to the alliance.

The general fund cash balance on the same date was $7,416,077, or $23,605,110 short of an amount sufficient to meet the highway appropriation balances.

About 96 per cent of the highway appropriation balances consist of unexpended construction funds. Nearly $28,000,000 of the $31,000,000 highway balance on June 30, 1940 consisted of unexpended construction balances.

The amount of highway revenue collected but not spent for highway purposes each fiscal year since July 1, 1933 has been as follows:

Year ending June 30, 1934: $2,253,173
Year ending June 30, 1935: 2,479,146
Year ending June 30, 1936: 2,540,159
Year ending June 30, 1937: 1,375,655
Year ending June 30, 1938: 3,469,250
Year ending June 30, 1939: 3,854,368
Year ending June 30, 1940: 3,952,256

"Highway commission funds are largely derived from receipts from gasoline tax collections and motor vehicle license fees. Net receipts are appropriated to the highway commission but the actual cash is placed in the state general fund where it is not earmarked for highway purposes and may be used for any purpose. Some authorities claim the amounts used for general purposes are only temporarily borrowed, but unless future legislatures raise funds from other sources to meet these balances, the effect will be the same as diversion," the alliance pointed out.

Buffalo Leads in Safety Contest

Chicago —(AP)—The national safety council announced Wednesday that Buffalo, N. Y., led the nation's big cities of 500,000 population or over, at the half-way mark in 1940's national traffic safety contest.

The score, on the basis of the safety record up to July 1, was 35.8 out of a possible 50 for Buffalo compared with Cleveland's 30.5 for second place. Milwaukee was sixth with 18.3.

Halfway mark leaders in other groups announced by the council included:

Group four, population 50,000 to 100,000: Lakewood, Ohio, 50.0; Atlantic City, 50.0; Davenport, Iowa, 50.0.

Group five, population 25,000 to 50,000: Brookline, Mass., 50.0; Haverhill, Mass., 50.0; Munice, Ind., 50.0.

Lakewood and Brookline were ranked first because their populations are larger.

Expert Judges Are Engaged for Bird Dog Trials

Banquet at Neenah
Hotel Will Feature
Full 2-Day Program

Believing that the judges make the field trial, the committee in charge of the bird dog trials of the Northeastern Wisconsin Kennel club scheduled for Sept. 14-15 near Neenah, have engaged three experts who are outstanding in their field, it was announced today. They are Howard Carver, Oshkosh, Art Welch, Wauwatosa, and Herman Kruse, Green Bay.

A field trial banquet will feature the 2-day program on Saturday night, to which all sporting dog enthusiasts are invited, and where field clothes will take the place of evening dress. The dinner will be held at the Valley Inn hotel, Neenah, which will be the field trial headquarters. Prominent speakers will appear on the program, according to the announcement, and reservations should be made at the hotel.

Has Long Experience
Howard Carver, who heads the judging panel, has been a bird dog man for some 20 years. He always has a string of fine hunting dogs and does considerable quail shooting on his own grounds down in Alabama. He has done much to further the field trial game and is now president of the Northern States Amateur Field Trial association.

Art Welch, a past officer in the Northern States, has been influential during the last few years in making the Wisconsin Amateur Field Trial club one of the most potent sporting dog organizations in the country. He is now a director of that organization. His dog running and judging assignments have taken him into many states.

Herman Kruse is one of the oldest bird dog men in the middle west. He knew dozens of the great and near great among the dogs, owners and handlers of 40 years ago. At one time he was field man for the American Field, official publication of the bird dog game. Although not active during the last few years, Kruse says that he has kept an eye on the situation and plans to return to the sport.

Hurley, Kant to Meet In Golf Tourney Final

Clintonville — Bill Hurley and Victor Kant, contenders for the 1940 championship of Riverside golf club, will play the finals on Labor Day. They will play a 36 hole match, 18 in the morning and 18 in the afternoon.

In the semi-finals, Hurley defeated Harold Heuer 3 up and 2 to go while Kant won over the Rev. E. C. Stubenvoll one up on the 19th hole. The championship cup has been won for the last two years by Donald Greb, whose absence from the city prevented him from entering this year's competition. Hurley has held the Riverside championship for one year and Harold Heuer has won it twice.

Kimberly Bowling Will Begin Sunday

Kimberly — Bowling will open at the Karl Lemmers alleys next Sunday. It is expected that the Kimberly leagues will get started about the middle part of September. At 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon a meeting will be held at the clubhouse to determine whether the mill will have an industrial league along with Lemmer's village league.

A meeting is scheduled at the alleys next Tuesday evening which will be open to all interested to see how many teams will enter the league. The alleys have been resurfaced and are in tip top shape for the opening. The interior as well as has been redecorated.

Decatur Continues 3-J League Climb

By the Associated Press
Pennant stock of the Decatur Commies continued to climb today. The Commies scored their ninth straight victory last night and the 13th in their last 15 games by disposing of Waterloo, 10 to 3, as rain kept the other six clubs idle. The victory left Decatur just three games behind Cedar Rapids and Springfield who are tied for the top.

The win also gave Decatur undisputed possession of third place which it had shared with Evansville.

UNUSUAL TROPHIES FOR FIELD TRIALS—Introduced for the first time in Wisconsin, the above unusual trophies are among those to be awarded winners in the bird dog field trials to be staged by the Northeastern Wisconsin Kennel club Sept. 14-15 at Medina marsh. For the convenience of spectators, horses will be available at the grounds and several tractors will be used to pull hayracks about the course. Roads leading to the marsh will be marked. Lambeau, Anderson Played Side-by-Side at Notre Dame

BY TOM SILER

Chicago—(AP)—Twenty two years ago Eddie Anderson and Curley Lambeau were illustrious teammates when the immortal Knute Rockne began his dazzling climb to fame at Notre Dame.

Now both are famous football coaches in their own right, Anderson as the dynamic tutor at the University of Iowa, and Lambeau as director of the Green Bay Packers, pro champions and the "winningest" team in the money game.

Thursday night they meet for the first time as rival coaches in the seventh all star game in Soldier field, which pits the Packers against the camps senior heroes of 1918.

Their paths divided after that one season, together on the late Rockne's first Irish eleven in 1918. Anderson finished school, tried his hand at pro football while getting his medical degree, and finally wound up as a top flight college coach.

Took Clerk's Job
Lambeau quit school and took a job as shipping clerk in the Acme Packing company back in his native Green Bay, Wis., then a city of 30,000. The husky Belgian never has had reason to regret that decision.

His farewell to Notre Dame led to the birth and amazing growth of the Packer football machine. Lambeau talked his boss into financing a plant team to the extent of $500. The club was known as the Packers and held its name through the years although it has had no connection with the firm since 1920.

Green Bay fans merely tolerated Lambeau's squad in those early days but did perk up a bit in 1920 when the Packers defeated the Minneapolis Marines, then a member of the National league. By 1921 Lambeau knew he had something, so when a vacancy occurred

15 are Seeking To be Citizens Largest Number in County's History, With One Exception

Waupaca — Fifteen petitions for naturalization have been filed with Clerk of the Court Paul Ovrom, for hearing at the November session of circuit court. Naturalization petitions usually number two or three or, at most, half a dozen. With the exception of two years ago when there were 19 this is the largest number of petitions to come before a court in this city.

Four of the petitions come from natives of Great Britain, two are from Denmark, two from Germany and one each from Bohemia, Russia and Lithuania, Syria and Norway. In the case of the man from Bohemia, who later became part of Czechoslovakia and is now under the rule of Hitler, there is an interesting change in naturalization procedure.

The petitions filed are for Frank Edward Christie, 28, Waupaca; Florence Dally, 62, New London; Mildred Algiers, 32, New London, and Kate Wines, 43, New London, all from Great Britain.

Anna Hanson, 64, Waupaca, and Richard Nelson, 74, Clintonville, both came from Denmark. Herman Beckman, 71, New London, came from Germany and Louise Sobrowski, 45, New London, lost her citizenship by virtue of her marriage to a citizen of Germany.

Frank Pollock, 76, Clintonville, blacksmith, came from Bohemia which is now under the shadow of the swastika and is filing under the misinformation clause. His father said he was naturalized in 1882 and Pollack has been voting ever since. In 1938, however, in checking the records he learned that only first papers had been taken out.

Then there are Alfred Rulseh, 71, Clintonville, a native of Norway; Oscar Nemschoff, 47, New London cattle dealer who renounces allegiance to the Soviet union of Russia; Joseph Smoiski, 53, disabled World War veteran who resides at the Wisconsin veterans' Home, who renounces allegiance to Lithuania; Mr. and Mrs. Halvor Halvorson Satre, Iola, who came from Norway; Mable H. Feitzer, Manawa, who is regaining her citizenship after marriage to an alien in 1920 and Deliah Soffa, New London, who is a native of Syria and whose husband was naturalized a few years ago.

Calling a Spade

Miami, Fla.—(AP)—They've resumed serving rubber fried eggs and wooden slabs of bread in Miami. The items are part of the equipment of a hotel employee training program conducted by the Dade county school board. Prospective waiters use the stage props to learn how the real articles should be served.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Truett Sewell and Maurice Van Robays, Pirates—Former pitched five-hitter for 5-0 opener win over Phillies; Van Robays hit homer and double, driving in four runs, in 5-2 nightcap.

Bill Dietrich and Larry Rosenthal, White Sox—Bill tossed five-hitter and Rosenthal's double drove in winning run to beat Red Sox, 3-2.

Dick Erickson, Bees—Held Cubs to nine hits and drove in three runs himself with two doubles in 8-4 victory.

Jojo Moore and Tony Cuccinello, Giants—Their homers drove in three runs in 5-2 win over Cardinals.

State Health Officer Describes Symptoms of Infantile Paralysis

Menasha—Dr. V. A. Gudex, state public health inspector, discussed symptoms of infantile paralysis and precautions to be observed when the disease is prevalent at the meeting of the Menasha Rotary club Wednesday noon at Hotel Menasha.

The health officer declared that the disease is difficult to diagnose because in the early stages symptoms are similar to those of the common cold. Some cases are very light and never develop paralysis but those persons can convey the disease to others.

The inspector said that "infantile" paralysis is a misnomer and cited instances of men 40 and 49 years old who became ill with the disease.

When cases are prevalent, people should stay away from those sick with any undiagnosed illness. The disease may be transmitted through human secretions and raw foods should be carefully washed. Heat kills the virus.

That no one should question the loyalty of S. E. Crockett, director of the Menasha school of vocational and adult education. Storm Water Survey Opened

Adherence to City Ordinance Covering Drains Being Sought

Neenah—Laurence Kitchen, assistant city engineer, today started the storm water sewer survey in Neenah. The council committee on public improvements at a meeting last week authorized the survey.

Premises where there was non-compliance with the ordinance covering draining of overflow from cisterns and downspouts found in a survey conducted a year ago will be checked.

During the last survey, it was found that there were 797 premises in the five wards which didn't comply with the ordinance, including 310 in the First ward, 160 in the Second ward, 85 in the Third ward, 90 in the Fourth and 152 in the Fifth.

The survey, which will be city wide, will begin in the First ward. Following the last investigations, property owners were instructed to remedy the condition. Where non-compliance with the ordinance is found, property owners will again be informed.

Give Instructions A printed notification on which the violation will be stipulated will be given property owners and they will be instructed that "Unless this condition is corrected within 20 days from the date of notification the matter will have to be referred to the city attorney for prosecution in accordance with the provisions of the ordinance."

The ordinance provides that eave troughs, roof leaders, down spouts, cisterns, overflows, surface and ground water drains shall not be connected in any manner to discharge into the sanitary sewers.

The survey is the beginning of a campaign started by the public improvements committee last week to determine the source of backwater in sanitary sewers during rain storms. The committee last week recommended to the council that the Neenah-Menasha sewerage commission make a survey of the sewerage systems in both communities.

Pee Wee Iron Lung Expected To Save Thousands of Lives

Tacoma, Wash.—(AP)—A new "iron lung," weighing but 40 pounds compared with over 600 pounds for the old "boiler-type" respirator, is being used here for the first time during Tacoma's current siege of infantile paralysis.

Paralysis specialists here hail the pee-wee respirator, invented by Dr. F. H. Terhaar of Los Angeles, as a "godsend," particularly for cases where the more unwieldy and larger lung presents transportation problems.

Dr. Melvin Warren, head of the Pierce County hospital infantile paralysis ward, estimates the Terhaar lung will save thousands of lives annually because of its extreme mobility.

The new respirator looks like the chest protector of a suit of armor. Rubber sleeves fit tightly at the waist and arms of the paralysis victim, sealing in the precious pulmonary air. It works on the same principle as the "boiler" lung, a portable motor collapsing and opening bellows that "breathe" for the patient.

Whereas the old-type lung fills a good-sized truck, the Terhaar respirator could be used in the back seat of an automobile.

Dr. Warren says preliminary work with the Terhaar lung has been "very successful."

"It's worked fine on convalescent cases," he says. "It got its first real test the other day when we put a boy in for one hour and a half who couldn't have lived two minutes without lung respiration. However, because of the rubber sleeves which can slip, it is necessary to have a nurse with the patient at all times. There are a few mechanical faults but they can be remedied."

"As the lung now stands, it's a perfect 'spare tire' for the regular type respirator."

"It is not reliable enough at this stage to replace the regulation respirator but its small size and the fact that its motor can be run from either truck or airplane batteries makes it ideal for acute cases being rushed to hospitals."

The lung is a great aid to both doctors and nurses. It makes it possible for patients to be taken out of the boilers for massage treatments or for bathing.

In the old-type lung, patients have to lie with their arms at their sides and sometimes develop contraction of muscles. The Terhaar lung makes it possible for the patient to move his arms and legs as much as he pleases.

Several small lungs of this general type have been invented and tried out in the last few years.

O'Konsky Criticizes 'Political Connivers'

Portage—(AP)—Alvin E. O'Konsky, candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, said last night Republican voters should be on guard against "political fifth columnists who are trying to get into strategic posts in the party so they can use their influence for the re-election of Senator LaFollette."

"Every day these political connivers are starting some Williekie For President club," he said. "They say they are for Williekie and would have you believe they are neutral on all other candidates. During these crucial times the Republican party must not fall into their hands. If they were really for Williekie they would also be for a Republican U. S. senator and a Republican congress which could help Williekie."

Medical Society to Discuss Industrial, Military Topics

Madison—Industrial medicine and military medical problems will be leading subjects at the 99th anniversary meeting of the State Medical Society of Wisconsin this year, the society announced today.

The convention will be held at Milwaukee Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, Sept. 18, 19, and 20.

"Industry is a vital link in preparedness," declared J. G. Crowheart, secretary of the society. "The medical profession is alert to the health problems that arise when production is speeded, hours are increased and similar factors. We must continue to keep our attention focused on this important phase of our national program. The health of the worker in industry will be emphasized in two ways: first, through scientific lectures and secondly, through exhibits in the auditorium. Some of the topics to be discussed will be lead poisoning in industry; burns, bone injuries; and skin diseases resulting from exposure to irritating substances used in manufacturing."

"The scientific sessions and exhibits will emphasize industrial health and industrial medicine, with over two-thirds of the scientific exhibits devoted to this subject. On Thursday morning, special programs will be held on medicine: surgery; care of mothers during childbirth; treatment of children's diseases; treatment of diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat; and X-ray work.

Immell To Speak

"Personal military problems will also be stressed at this year's meeting as a special feature. The military portion of the scientific program will be divided into two phases: the first, related to some of the scientific aspects of modern military combat, particularly on the effect of aviation on the health of aviators; and the second, devoted to personal problems confronting the physician, who is called upon to leave his private practice for active duty in the event of mobilization. Brigadier General Ralph M. Immell, the adjutant general of Wisconsin, and others outstanding in the military field will address the doctors, and Dr. W. M. Boothby of the Mayo clinic, has been secured by the society to talk on "Physiologic Problems Involved in Aviation."

"On Thursday and Friday noons, round-table luncheons will be held. These round tables are limited in number to twenty and are led by physicians who are especially well-qualified to discuss the subject at hand. In this way, each physician attending a round table may discuss his own experiences and problems in the treatment of various diseases and at the same time may talk over these problems with the specialists. Outstanding medical scientists and practitioners from Wisconsin as well as from all parts of the country have been secured so that this year's program may offer the Wisconsin physician the best and most recent information so that he in turn may be better qualified to care for the health of his community."

Stafford in Attack Upon 'Reactionaries'

Eau Claire—(AP)—Harold E. Stafford of Chippewa Falls, candidate for the Progressive nomination for governor, contended last night that "enemies of democracy are promoting reaction everywhere in this nation."

"We all face dangerous times when we may see the reactionaries triumphantly carrying out their plans to suppress the civil liberties and economic rights of the farmer, labor and small business," he said. "By replacing the Heil administration with a Progressive state government we can upset the reactionaries' plans for Wisconsin."

"I pledge," he added, "that if elected governor I will do my utmost to keep our state a haven of civil and economic justice."

L. M. Rubens, police commissioner in Joliet, Ill., European representative.

Lieut. Albert G. Perrot, of Indianapolis, was renounced to the board of directors.

Union Backs Up Illinois Head

Miners Give 'Vote Of Faith' to Keck As He Denies Charge

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—State President William Keck of the Progressive Mine Workers of America was given a "vote of faith" by the union's Illinois district convention today, soon after publication of a charge that he asked $25,000 from the rival United Mine Workers of America to help merge the two unions.

The charge was made by Ray Edmundson, Illinois district president of the United Mine Workers in an open letter and was promptly branded an "absolute lie" and a "frameup" by Keck.

Coming in the midst of a long controversy over unification of the PMWA, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, and the CIO-UMWA Edmundson's letter asserted he had asked Keck to use his influence to ward such a merger in a conference last Jan. 5 in a St. Louis hotel.

The letter said Keck asked "the amount of $25,000 to effectuate the unification program in the Belleville area which in turn would completely destroy the Progressive Mine Workers of America."

"That is an absolute lie and frame-up," Keck declared in a 30 minute speech opening today's session of the union's biennial convention, attended by more than 100 delegates from Illinois locals. "Its sole purpose is propaganda."

Heil Administration 'Inept', Kading Says

Shawano—(AP)—Charles E. Kading of Watertown, candidate for the Progressive nomination for attorney general, said today the Heil administration had revealed itself as "one of the most inept examples of representative government in the state's history."

"The entire policy of the Heil administration has been to tear down legislation passed for the good of all the people," he said. "The administration has taken care of the 'favored few', but has paid off the rest of the people with empty promises, hypothetical cash balances and actual deficits."

Kading asserted that if the Republicans were returned to power they would again attempt to enact a general sales tax.

Would Impose 'Large' Taxes on Big Salaries

Black River Falls—(AP)—A proposal that the government impose "large" income taxes upon the high salaries of big corporation officials was made last night by H. A. Gunderson, candidate for the Progressive gubernatorial nomination.

"The national government is beginning a great defense program, which will cost this country billions of dollars. The president's salary is $75,000 a year, but the salaries of the presidents and other leading officers of the large corporations of this country are as high as $300,000 a year," Gunderson said.

"The government must impose a large income tax upon those salaries, so that those who can best afford it, are required to make their fair contribution to the national defense."

Primary Scraps in 15 States To Enliven September Scene

BY ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

Washington—(AP)—Primary battles in 15 states, besides the Roosevelt-Willkie fireworks, provide a heavy dose of politics for September.

Several of the primaries will be tabbed as partial indicators of New Deal and anti-New Deal strength in the general election November 5.

In addition to the primaries, the month will bring Maine's early election of a senator, a governor and member of the House of Representatives.

Primary performances may give an inkling as to the political destiny of such nationally-known figures as Wisconsin's Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Minnesota's "promising" young Governor Harold E. Stassen, Michigan's 81-year-old Bible-teaching Governor Luren Dickenson and Georgia's Eugene Talmadge.

Here are fall elections on which most attention is focused:

September 3

Nevada—Senator Key Pittman, chairman of the important committee on foreign affairs, up for re-nomination.

Utah—Senator William H. King, conservative Democrat, opposed for renomination by Representative Abe Murdock, ardent New Dealer.

September 10

Michigan—Vice-hating Governor Dickinson seeks renomination in a field with six other Republicans. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg has a Republican opponent, but his renomination is considered a cinch.

Minnesota—Two Republicans contest the renomination of Governor Harold Stassen. An impressive victory by Stassen will bolster his status as a 1944 presidential prospect.

September 11

Georgia—Red-suspected Eugene Talmadge, bitter critic of the New Deal back in 1936, asks another two-year term as governor. He has two opponents in the Democratic primary.

September 14

New Mexico—Senator Dennis Chavez and Representative John J. Dempsey are opponents for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

September 17

New York—Anti-Roosevelt Democrat John O'Connor, victim of the 1938 purge, asks nomination for congress from both Democratic and Republican parties. Among other New York congressional candidates are Representative Bruce Barton, talked of as a senatorial possibility; Joseph Curran, C.I.O. Maritime Union chieftain, and fiery Vito Marcantonio.

Wisconsin—Senator Robert M. LaFollette is unopposed for the Progressive renomination, but the respective sizes of the Republican and Progressive votes will be regarded as a barometer of G.O.P. prospects for ending the LaFollette dynasty. Dr. Glenn Frank, chairman of the Republican national program committee, is one of seven aspirants for the right to fight it out with LaFollette.

Dedication of New School at Darboy Sept. 8

Vicar General of Diocese Will be in Charge of Services

Darboy — Members of Holy Angels parish are anxious about the harvesting of the grain because of the incessant rainy weather, but the majority, who have given their time and money for the erection of the new school building, will be present Sunday, Sept. 8, when the new school building, which has been erected on the nineteenth year of the founding of their parish organization, will be dedicated by the Right Rev. Msgr. Joseph A. Marx, P. A., vicar general of the Green Bay diocese.

Dedication services will commence with a low mass at 10 o'clock in the morning by the Rev. Martin Jaekels of Manitowish, whose parents were pioneer members of Holy Angels parish. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. H. G. Riordan, pastor of St. Joseph Parish of Fond du Lac. Prior to entering upon his studies for the priesthood, Father Riordan taught in the public schools of Ozaukee county and continued his profession as teacher after his ordination at St. Francis Seminary until he became pastor at Fond du Lac.

Assisting the Msgr. Marx in the dedication ceremonies will be the Right Rev. Msgr. John Hummel of Menasha, the Very Rev. J. J. Sprangers, dean of the clergy of Outagamie county, and other neighboring priests of Holy Angels parish.

Memorial to Pioneers

The general public is being invited to attend the dedication of the building as a memorial to the pioneers of the territory which is served by Holy Angels parish. For this part of the dedication ceremony, a granite slab imbedded in the wall of the vestibule of the building will be unveiled by children who are descendants of the earliest pioneers of the towns of Buchanan and Harrison. The inscription on the granite slab reads as follows:

"This building was erected as a memorial to the pioneers of this territory on the 90th anniversary of the founding of Holy Angels Parish."

The laying of the cornerstone of the new building last June was marred by rainy weather. This time the new building itself with the large dining hall in the basement and the class rooms on the first floor of the building will afford ample protection should the hopes of the members for a perfect day of dedication be frustrated.

Following the dedication services a chicken dinner will be served by the women of the parish and a picnic held, featuring for the first time at Darboy, the C. Y. O. Alumni Band of St. Mary's High School of Menasha.

The pioneer home scene and entertainment presented at the picnic last June will be repeated by popular request at the picnic on Sept. 8.

5 Per Cent Delinquency In State Code Law Fees

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—About five per cent of the members of the trades covered by the state code law are delinquent in the payment of their license fees, largely because of unfavorable circuit court decisions in certain areas and the absence thus far of definite supreme court determination of disputes arising out of the new fair trade practices statute, it was learned here today.

The state trade practice division has been defeated in court decisions in Green Bay, Eau Claire and LaCrosse, but hopes to get several constitutional questions before the supreme court in September and a final decision from that tribunal by late October, it was said.

Baker, Ore.—(AP)—Lee Wright discovered a yellowed placard in an old barn inviting young men to join the army—the army of General George Washington. It read:

It offered $50 a year in gold and closed with the words, "God Save the United States."

Folkways Being Brought to Life in Cultural Movement

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—A native cultural development in rural Wisconsin is being fostered today in a University of Wisconsin college of agriculture bulletin as one of the most significant and encouraging aspects of regional life.

With the primary purpose of the expression of creative impulse and the development of fine feeling, the review noted an expansion and promotion of art, literature, music and drama in Wisconsin rural communities, and commented:

"It is true that cultural resources were present in the rich patterns of European nationalities represented in very many communities throughout the state.

"We have found for instance that a folk music and a folk type of recreation and group life are often present in the heritage of German, Polish, Scandinavian, Scotch, Welsh and other peoples settling in Wisconsin. But these older folkways were held unconsciously or the new environment pushed them so far into the background that shortly the modern popular song and commercial recreation could easily dominate the scene."

Today a native cultural art movement is spreading in the state, it was noted, and facilities are being developed in the communities, schools and state university to help them along.

One of the most significant ingredients in the cultural development, it was pointed out, is the spreading interest in painting and drawing among Wisconsin rural citizens, as demonstrated by the rural-art exhibition sponsored by the college of agriculture last year.

"It is no exaggeration to say that a three months' search conducted in 15 of Wisconsin's 71 counties unearthed enough good painting, water color and pastel to form one of the most unusual collections in the history of this region. So far as can be discovered it was the first exhibition of its kind in the history of Wisconsin, perhaps even in the whole country."

Local Groups

Moreover, in nearly every Wisconsin county today there are local groups which have organized to produce plays. Last year the state library service furnished over 5,000 plays for examination by such clubs and individuals.

"Wisconsin can be counted among the most dramatic minded of the states," the review said. A recent visitor and drama critic reported seeing many fine character portrayals, but suggested the need for local leaders taking a fuller advantage of the resources of homemade equipment, but most of all for more careful selection of plays which are really worthy of the ability of amateur actors and directors. Thus the drama is one of the great social stimulants and aesthetic resources of the state."

Music and other means of folk recreation have also taken on new interest in recent years, the study pointed out, particularly in regions dominated by particular nationality stocks.

"Today new forces are at work in this field of folk recreation," it was said.

"Public agencies have come to appreciate the worth of these folk cultures to Wisconsin rural and urban life. They give them emphasis on significant public occasions. They are encouraged in the schools, from the elementary schools to the state university. Different national groups are coming to appreciate the contributions of other cultures to their own satisfaction and ways of life.

"Each, therefore, learns the folk dances and folk ways of others. Furthermore, all of these separate folk ways—folk songs, folk legends, folk dances—are being slowly merged into a new culture that is to be truly Wisconsin—A Wisconsin with an enriched social life and broader cultural outlook. Each contributes to the new whole, but the emerging product is different from any of its component parts. It is a merger of backgrounds and cultures of many different peoples for many centuries who are coming to know and understand and respect each other in a new land."

Hollywood—A few days ago I editorialized on the fact that Jacqueline Nash, the child singer who so favorably impressed me with her work in the Jascha Heifetz picture, "Let There Be Music," has been overlooked ever since by Hollywood. Within the past few days, letters have been pouring in from fans who want to see and hear her again.

It's been just about a year since "Let There Be Music" was released—and a year is a very long time in the movie world. The average personality is forgotten completely in that length of time if he or she is off the screen. Therefore, I feel that the hundreds of letters I've received prove conclusively, in this case, that Jacqueline is not an "average" personality. Apparently, she has been forgotten by no one—excepting the very producers who should be interested in remembering.

I'm not campaigning for little Miss Nash through any personal interest. But if she, or anyone else, has that certain something which makes her stand out sharply enough to rate such devotion on the part of theatre-goers who have seen her only once, she must be considered a potential screen asset. And Hollywood, just now, needs every asset it can muster. It seems to me that her case perfectly exemplifies the hit-and-miss methods by which Hollywood picks—and overlooks—its personality help.

Baltimore once was a major umbrella-making town, but demand has fallen off now.

Even Neville Chamberlain and appeasement didn't help.

Condition of Bohemian Jew 'Gradually Getting Worse'

BY ALVIN STEINKOPF

Prague—(P)—"Bad, and gradually getting worse" is the phrase with which a Bohemian Jew characterized the present situation of Jewish citizens of the protectorate.

There are still more than 200,000 Jews in Bohemia and Moravia, more than 40,000 in Prague itself. And there is little prospect that any great number of these will be able to get away soon. For Czech Jews, borders are getting tighter each week. A very few are getting away to Shanghai, distant China being about the only place still willing or able to absorb some of the luckless Jews of the former Czechoslovakia.

About the only foreign financial support reaching the Jewish community here comes from the American joint distribution committee.

Thus, an unemployed Jew, if he is lucky, can get about $3 a week to support himself and his family. But he doesn't get the dollars—he must accept Czech crowns at a fixed rate of exchange.

There has, of course, been no help from England or France since the beginning of the war. And now contributions from Jewish organizations in Belgium and Holland, which were considerable, have ceased.

Rely on Contributions

The Jewish community of Prague and the Jewish emigration office consequently must rely wholly on contributions from protectorate Jews, who are getting poorer daily.

Many of the wealthy Jews have long since left.

Two aspects of their situation in Prague make their position somewhat easier than that of Jews who were engulfed by anti-Semitic movements in some other lands.

First, there has been no violence, the only persons hurt in Prague's single anti-Jewish demonstrations being Aryans.

And second, restrictive measures have been applied gradually. Jews are being squeezed out of business. But in Wenzelsplatz, within sight of the statue of Saint Wenzel, the heart of Bohemia, two shops operated by Jews manage to keep their doors open.

A few Jewish butchers and operators of beauty parlors and toilet goods shops have been undisturbed. These business men, however, feel they won't last long.

Jews are excluded from certain parks, bathing establishments and public places.

G.O.P. Must Embrace Willkie Leadership to Win Election

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—Some have said that the Willkie-McNary campaign is bound to be a weak one because the two Republican candidates support many New Deal measures.

If their campaign proves to be weak, it will not be for that reason but because, among other things, of a public suspicion that the Republican party organization and many of its representatives in congress are not as fully abreast of the times as the two top candidates who were thrust upon the Philadelphia convention.

The trouble with the Republican party has been that it has been out of step with the desires and needs of the American people during the last decade. Republican reactionaries have been unwitting contributors to President Roosevelt's popularity. He has been loved because of the enemies he has made. Blind, head-long opposition to Roosevelt has played into his hands.

A large majority of voters have recorded their conviction that on balance, as between Roosevelt and his opposition, he was doing or trying to do the things that needed doing. He has been allowed to exercise something of a monopoly in that field.

In that situation the Roosevelt administration has been able to get by with sloppy administration. It has been able to get by with reckless and poorly developed experiments. It has been able to get by with bare-faced demagoguery and with practices that amounted to disguised vote-buying out of the federal treasury. Because of Republican indifference or lack of understanding, Roosevelt has been able almost to monopolize the leadership of the country in shaping policies growing out of the war in Europe. He, not the Republicans, were so far away from the realities that the public took matters out of the dangers created by Hitler's conquests.

Public Took Matters In Hand At Convention

Regular Republican candidates for the presidential nomination were so far away from the realities that the public took matters out of the hands of the Philadelphia convention and forced Willkie, a former Democrat, upon the party. He, in turn, chose as his vice presidential candidate, Senator McNary who even though he was Republican leader of the senate, voted for numerous New Deal measures.

Thus the country is offered an alternative to the Roosevelt-Wallace ticket which does not represent a retreat to the days of Harding. It is offered the alternative of a ticket which recognizes the necessity of the changes that have taken place and indulges in no vain hope of turning back the clock.

This ticket also recognizes one thing which has been lost sight of in the battle to establish the New Deal reforms. It recognizes that in a private capitalist system, the private entrepreneur is part of the team. Unrelenting opposition to the New Deal by many business men plus the impatient and hard-riding tactics of some in the Roosevelt administration have created a deep mutual mistrust between the administration and business that does not seem to heal. Mutual suspicions are too fixed now. More aggressive persons in the administration have sought to break the stalemate by strong-arm methods. If this stalemate should continue, national interest might require strong measures over business. The impasse could very well bring about drastic alterations in our system.

In the Willkie-McNary ticket the country is offered two men who do not menace the social reforms and

Wisconsin Health

BY DR. C. A. HARPER
State Health Officer

We are proceeding upon the principle that the only way to conquer tuberculosis is to detect it early by means of tuberculin test and x-ray, and to segregate and treat all active cases.

During the fiscal year 1938-39, those afflicted with tuberculosis in sanatoria throughout Wisconsin cost the taxpayers more than two million the regulatory fundamentals that have been inaugurated in recent years but who do promise to end the internal warfare and bring the enormous resources of private enterprise fully and enthusiastically into play.

That is the great need now — to end the stagnating resistance of business forces and knit aggressive enterprise back into our system on the new plateau of social progress that has been reached.

If the Republican organization is alert enough to seize this historic role in our national progress and to embrace the leadership of Willkie to that end, it can put on a campaign worthy of the times. Failing to throw itself into this campaign on the stand taken by Willkie, the party will nullify his effectiveness and leave him stranded on election day with only the satisfaction of having conducted a noble experiment.

dollars in state and county taxes, even though in that period we were recording a new low tuberculosis death rate in state annals.

Only one-sixth of the cases admitted to our sanatoria are in the very early stages of the disease, showing we are lax in making full use of known means to detect tuberculosis at its outset and bring it under prompt treatment.

Each family breadwinner who enters a tuberculosis sanatorium involuntarily increases the relief burden of the commonwealth.

We cannot afford to have tuberculosis in Wisconsin. Neither from the economic standpoint nor the humanitarian standpoint can we afford it. We must get rid of it.

A tuberculosis-finding program and a program of early treatment are two of the greatest economies that your community can effect.

As late as 1939 tuberculosis was
